Amenda Smith Queen

By JESSE LYNN
PORTAGEVILLE — Amenda Smith, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, route one, Portageville, was named last night at the annual Farm Bureau Meeting in Portageville to succeed Glenda Schallerdt, Portageville, as the New Madrid County Farm Bureau Queen in competition with six other New Madrid County beauties.

Hugh Rogers, President, of New Madrid County Farm Bureau crowned the new queen. The new queen, a 5-1, 100 pound, blond beauty is the winner of an all-expense trip to Jefferson City, where she will compete for the state Farm Bureau title.

Named first alternate was Cathy Kem, 17, daughter of Warren Kem, Matthews, a senior at Matthews High School. Second alternate is Linda Kay Ward, 18, daughter of A.B. Ward, Lilbourn, who graduated from Lilbourn High school last spring.

Other entries included Gale Ferguson, 16, daughter of Ralph Ferguson, Gideon; Deborah K. Woolverton, 17, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Woolverton, Gideon; and Debbie Silverthorn, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Silverthorn, route one, Sikeston; and Alice Schallerdt, 19, daughter of Paul Schallerdt of Rt. 3, Portageville.

About 300 attended the contest, which followed the annual business meeting.

Appearing as speakers were Farm Bureau President Hugh Rogers, who delivered the welcome and handled introductions; John Summitt, vice president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation; Peter C. Myers, member of the state Farm Bureau committee; Randy Porter and Bobby Wrather, presenting the Young Farmers Conference unit; N. S. Rhodes with a insurance report; Phil Nash, who presented the competing beauties.

Business matters include tentative resolutions as advanced by the bureau for 1969. They are:

ANIMAL HEALTH — Opposition to federal rulings of laws that would stop intelligent use of injectible or orally administered antibiotics in farm animals. We urge that any restriction on the use of antibiotics be coupled with proven research as to adverse affect on humans who consume meat with antibiotics in it.

ASC OFFICE — All payments should be posted on a bulletin board so that all farmers can see for what, and on whom money is being spent.

COTTON RESEARCH AND CLASSIFICATION — That research be made to find a way to sample a bale of cotton so its quality may be preserved. And adequate grading and classification.

EXTENSION — Urge the organization department of Farm Bureau to work close to and encourage the participation of Farm Bureau people in County Extension Councils.

That agricultural research facilities continue to be expanded, especially in Southeast Missouri.

Three Emergencies

These emergencies were treated at Missouri Delta Community Hospital, Thursday: Solomon Hill, New Madrid, cut fifth finger of left hand; Lois Freeman, Morehouse, cut right foot on lawn mower; Wayne Haynes, Matthews, fell in bean auger, injuring right leg and elbow.

INSURANCE — Urge all members to take advantage of the insurance by buying from their own insurance companies.

FARM PROGRAM — Oppose limitation of farm payments to individuals. We favor non-recourse loans for basic farm products.

COTTON — Favor continuing a minimum 16 million acre national allotment. Price supports payments should be made to someone other than the producer. To increase cotton exports by eliminating state department interference. We support the dollar a bale check off to increase sales of cotton and expand research on uses of cotton.

FEED GRAIN — Urge that a program of gradually going to free market prices be adopted. We especially oppose any program which would tend to promote growing a large amount of wheat and feed grains and thereby get us back into a larger surplus situation.

SOYBEANS — Oppose the planting of soybeans on any diverted acres and favor a check-off at the first market not to exceed one-half cent per bushel. Money collected from this source would be used for research and marketing promotion.

RESEARCH — Encourage state and federal government to continue research on farm production, marketing and use of farm products. We favor complete elimination of the government A.C.P. Program. We would like to see a more accurate report of the surplus commodities, and other similar programs being charged as a cost of the farm program. We recommend a study to estimate the increase cost of food and clothing if farm programs were eliminated.

ALTERNATE FARM PROGRAM — As an alternate farm program, the group favors a 25 per cent reduction of all developed tillable farm land. All land would be rotated in a four-year rotation. The payment for idle land to be doubled the tax assessment per acre and this payment would be divided equally between land owner and renter.

MARKETING — Favor formation of marketing co-operatives for our farm commodities and that the Missouri Pacific Railroad Co., and the Missouri Highway Department, will determine the benefits of this type of singling.

ANIMAL HEALTH — Opposition to federal rulings of laws that would stop intelligent use of injectible or orally administered antibiotics in farm animals. We urge that any restriction on the use of antibiotics be coupled with proven research as to adverse affect on humans who consume meat with antibiotics in it.

EXTENSION — Urge the organization department of Farm Bureau to work close to and encourage the participation of Farm Bureau people in County Extension Councils.

That agricultural research facilities continue to be expanded, especially in Southeast Missouri.

BACKWARD GLANCES

A recent UPI dispatch described a clean-up campaign conducted recently in Sterling Heights, Michigan. The citizens of that Detroit suburb wanted a section of the Clinton River as a recreation area, but the waterway was a favorite dumping area for people too lazy to dispose of their trash and cast-off possessions in the prescribed way. Government agencies dealing with river clean-up projects had no plans for the Clinton for at least five years. So the people of Sterling Heights decided to take matters into their own hands. Community work day was the result. The session was attended by about 1,500 volunteers of all ages, male and female.

The volunteers worked in flat-bottomed boats or waded into the water. They went on despite a rainstorm, and the result was a cleaner river for the good of all. It seems unlikely that those who took part in the actual work will ever be seen littering the Clinton River. It is now their river and they'll protect it for that reason.

Actually, the Clinton River project is news only in the context of modern society. A few generations back this type of undertaking was commonplace. They called it by different names - quilting bees, barn raisings, etc. These were community occasions. They were social gatherings designed to benefit the community. Men and women were brought closer by the cooperative atmosphere, which made the work easier, even fun.

Think back to some of the group-work sessions of your own past and recall some of the fun you had. Did you ever decorate a gym for a school dance? Or decorate cars for a wedding motorcade? Did you ever take part in a group painting session at some YMCA or orphanage or church? Try expanding on these themes. You'll be a better person and you'll live in a better community. And it will truly be your community.

More and more, workers are becoming aware that compulsory union membership is evil which can harm every working man and woman in the country - whether they belong to a union or not.

More and more, they are realizing that compulsory union membership is inconsistent with the American way.

After a man has passed 70, and has accumulated a little money, thypubc demands that he get the written consent of every relative he had, no matter how remote, before he marries, should he decide to wed at that late stage of life. If he has no money, their consent is not necessary.

The following dialogue from a young accountant is recorded not because it is unusual, but because it is typical:

"I could afford and would probably buy new carpeting and furniture for my house, landscaping of my yard, a third bathroom, a couple of new suits, a second automobile, fishing gear, an automatic dishwasher."

"My wife could double the list. They are things we really need. In fact, we really can't afford to do without some of them. But we have put them off mainly because no one has really tried to sell them to us. Our local retailers seem to assume that people like me are the same consumers we were ten years ago."

This young professional man expects some personal attention to his needs before he fully uses his buying power. Ordinarily, local merchants would be anxious to give him, and hundreds like him in every community, plenty of attention if they knew of the situation. What is lacking is a first point of contact.

Yet, the local merchant does have an ideal place to make contact with young, affluent, educated leaders. The very nature of their status in the community dictates thorough readership of the local newspaper.

Advertising which recognizes the existence of the prosperous procrastinators and brings serious inquiries can be the first step toward releasing thousands of idle dollars into the local economy.

Third Strike. At Camp Pickett, Va., after calling some bad ones as umpire in a post softball game, Private Noel Fuquay was escorted from the field by a protective squad of sergeants, three days later got his discharge from the Army for poor eyesight.

Ask any 10-year-old boy what a sheriff does and he'll probably say: "He rides a horse and shoots outlaws."

Maybe so, on television. But, nowadays sheriffs posses ride in automobiles and sheriffs are as concerned with protecting their motoring constituents as they are in pursuing outlaws.

Demonstrating concern over modern traffic problems, the National Sheriffs Association some years ago endorsed a type of "safety" licensed plate that casts a bright warning glow for up to 2,000 feet by light reflection from auto headlights.

Said Sheriff Malcolm McLeod of Lumberton, N. C., the Association's president at that time: "We think they are an excellent law enforcement and safety aid. We wish they were used in every state."

A report by the Maine State Police points out that the annual number of nighttime collisions with parked cars was reduced by 58 per cent during the years 1950 to 1963, compared with the five-year period before 1950, when that state began using such tags.

More recently, the University of North Carolina announced the results of a study concluded last year, which showed that reflective license plates more than pay for themselves in decreased nighttime accident costs. And at their last national convention, the Veterans of Foreign Wars passed a unanimous resolution favoring the use of "safety" plates on all vehicles in the country.

With the influence of the nation's sheriffs and such organizations as the National Safety Council and the V.F.W. behind them, reflective license plates are becoming standard issue in more and more states (Now 33, with others considering adoption).

Sheriffs still shoot outlaws, sometimes, and they occasionally ride horses. But these days they're on the track of another dangerous hombre -- night-driving highway hazards.

The following passage, taken out of Burgh's Political Disquisitions, (vol. 3d, p. 322, Ec.) may gratify some of your readers, and by instructive to others, if you will give it a place in your useful paper.

It is an unsurmountable argument against slavery, that nature, in every human being, revolts against it, when it comes to touch himself. We wonder to read of dastardly peoples, and crafty priests, standing up for the divine right of tyrants, as if they forgot that by and by themselves may come to be sufferers. But the partisans of tyranny keep always a mental reservation in their own favor. They are for enslaving all mankind, and intend that themselves shall be little tyrants under the great one.

There is always a somewhat, where human nature, even in the most feeble spirits, vindicates to itself its unalienable right. The following private anecdote, told me by one who knew the parties concerned, illustrates this.

In the mad times of (illegible word), when many seemed willing to go all lengths in obedience to authority, a man of sense took some pains to give a lady, a friend of his, juster notions than she had of the limits of obedience. "Suppose," says he, "Madam, that the king should seize, by a quo warranto, your husband's estate, and make him, and yourself, and children, beggars; would you think resistance unlawful?" "I should have much cause of complaint," says the lady; "but, (raising her pretty eyes to heaven) we must not resist the Lord's anointed." "But, Madam, I will put a harder case still. Suppose the king should force your ladyship . . . , don't you think your husband might fully promote an (illegible word) for extirpating such a brutish Tarquin?" The lady, with downcast eyes, and a countenance covered with a rosy blush, answered: "The case you now put, Sir, is undoubtedly harder than the former. But, as the whole sin should be the king's and kings are answerable to God only, I do, not think my husband could lawfully do anything towards vindicating his honor by violence." The gentleman knowing, that the lady was, as all the votaries of passive obedience, staunch for the established church, and bitter, if a lady can be bitter, against the dissenters, resolved to put to her one question farther, which he did as follows: "Give me leave, Madam," says he, "to ask you once more: Suppose the king should order your ladyship to go to meeting? (sic) 'What,' (says she, rising in a lovely passion, which enlivened every feature, with eyes sparkling lips quivering, and bosom heaving) 'me to a wicked (illegible word) presbyterian meeting!' (These opprobrious words she had learned from the parson of the parish) 'I would kill him,' (says she, clenching her little, weak soft hand, which made the gentleman hope he should have the pleasure of a box on the ear, of which however he was disappointed) . . .

If a weak delicate woman could be thus roused in defense of what she called her religious liberty, surely a man ought to suffer (manly ruination) as soon as to yield himself a voluntary slave.

Casual metaphor dropped by a Tennessee author at the recent festival of authors in Chattanooga: "As hopeless as trying to sneak a leaky bucket of daylight past a yardful of young roosters."

Private Lives. In Los Angeles, Vernon Bronson Twitchell, author of Living Without Liquor: A Guide to the Problem Drinker, was arrested for drunkenness. In Houston, after speaking at the Olivet Baptist Church on "Christian Activities and Airplane Riding," Everett Scott was nabbed for impersonating an Air Force officer.

NEW YORK (AP)—Are you afraid you'll have nothing to do but sit and twiddle your thumbs when you retire?

Tush and twiddle! A retired man is not like a workhorse put out to pasture and confined by fence bars. He is free of mind and at last has the time, and one hopes the energy, to try and put into effect some of the daydreams and phantasies that have entertained him through the years.

For example, here's a list of possibilities that would keep him from getting rusty:

Dig for buried treasure. Sail the Spanish Main. Learn to speak Tagalog. Bridge the generation gap by adopting a teen-ager. Invent a new card game or a new-flavored cough drop.

Make a collection of cobwebs, cigar wrappers or old credit cards. Become a landlord for fun and profit.

Take lessons on the tambourine or an African jungle drum. Enlist as an unpaid spy for the CIA. Train a falcon to dive bomb unsuspecting old women and fly off with their handbags. That'll make you a pioneer in aerial mugging, a hitherto overlooked form of crime.

Wear spats, and start a new clothing fad.

Cap a climax. Open a new era.

Develop a computer that will translate government gobbledegook into modern English folk songs, so it can be sung as well as read.

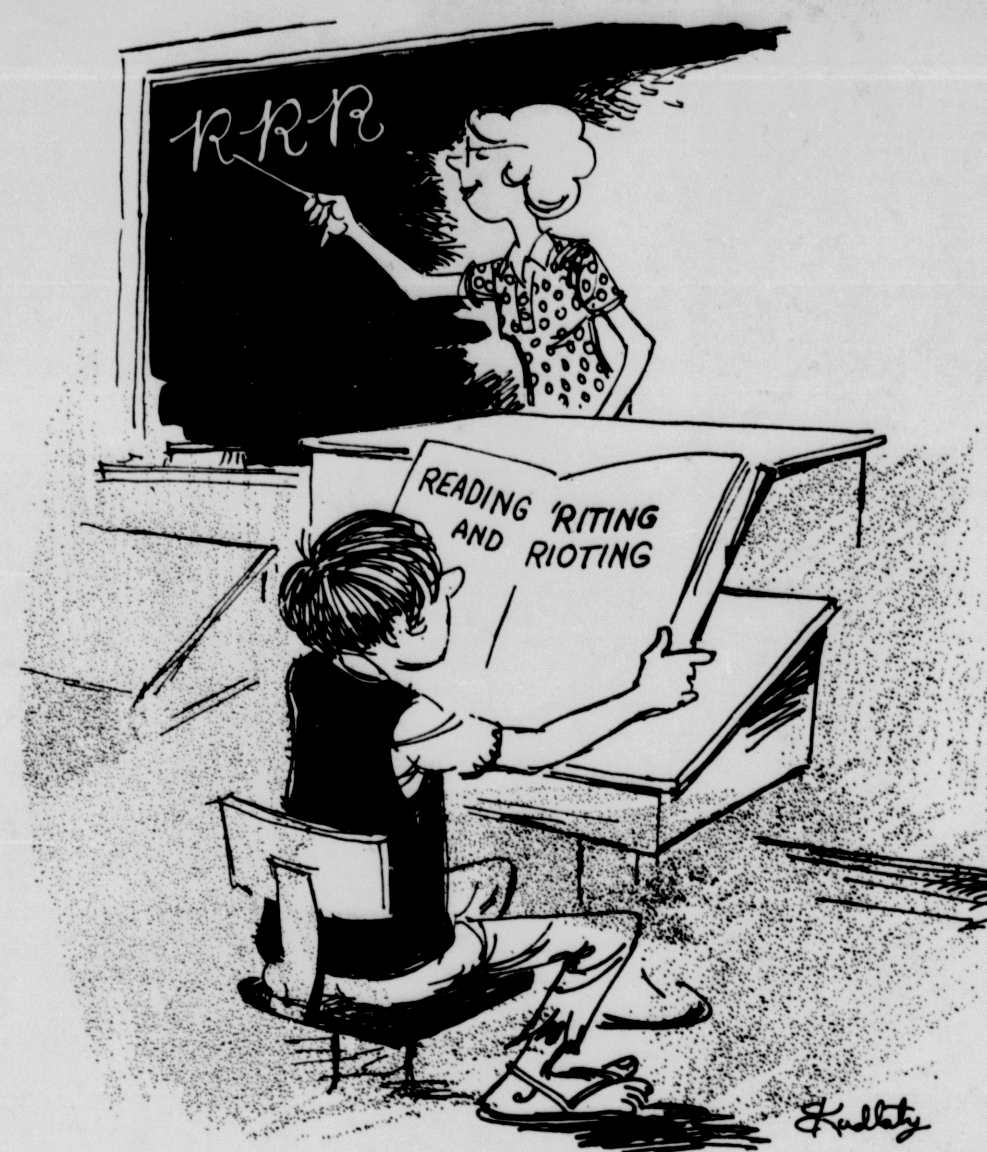

End campus riots by leading a revival of interest among college students in the old New England custom of bundling--and let them practice it in classrooms.

Publish a $1 guidebook listing all the pubs and bars in America in which the third drink is still served on the house. It shouldn't run to more than two pages, triple spaced.

Discover a nostrum beside old age that will put sex in its proper perspective.

If none of these activities entice you out of the "retirement blues," maybe it's because you've become too dull for this zestful world. In that case, perhaps you could solve your woes by persuading a cannibal to invite you for lunch during National Brotherhood Week.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

A government Task Force has concluded a study which purports to show that the nation's elderly people could have saved millions of dollars in 1966 if doctors had prescribed drugs by generic instead of brand name. As a spokesman for the prescription drug industry points out, the alleged saving . . . is based on the unproven assumption that prescriptions written by generic name cost substantially less. Wholly aside from the comparative costs of generic versus brand name drugs is the confusing questions to laymen of just what the difference is between the two and why one may be of higher quality than the other. A generic product is known merely by the scientific names of the active ingredient it contains. A brand name drug product carries the trademark name of the producing manufacturer.

Mrs. Sue Boe, a consumer information specialist for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, has defined the quality difference between brand names and generic names and drugs in terms of a chocolate cake. All chocolate cakes contain chocolate, but they are most decidedly all not of the same quality. Why? In Mrs. Boe's words, "Well . . . perhaps the eggs one woman used weren't fresh, or she substituted an inferior oleo for the butter . . . Maybe she just happened to be a bad cake baker! . . . (If you think making a cake is complicated, you should see the recipes for drugs! A comparison: have you ever tried to distribute evenly one teaspoon of baking powder in 145,000 pounds of flour?"

That, in simple words, is the story of generic versus brand name drugs. It is hard to see how anyone can claim the elderly are being robbed when their doctors prescribe brand name medications from a research-oriented manufacturer with a reputation to uphold.

At Last, Better Fortune For Southern Neighbors Economic news frequently makes dismal reading, almost invariably so when it deals with the state of the nations to the south of us.

The effect of the Nixon visit, the Kremlin sent Konstantin Katushev, a master of the veiled threat, to Bucharest to attend the Romanian party congress.

This same Katushev was a key figure in the Soviet crackdown on Czechoslovakia when Czech leaders became too independent. In w long huddles with Romanian leader Nicolae Ceausescu, Katushev warned him against any more direct dealings with the United States.

2. The Kremlin was perturbed over President Nixon's friendly overtures to Peking at the same time that Russians and Chinese were clashing along the Sinking border. No problem is more sensitive inside the Kremlin right now than the Chinese question. The American gestures to Red China, therefore, are considered unfriendly to Russia.

Soviet leaders are understandably nervous over the possibility that China and the U.S. some day might join forces against Russia.

On the government level, the Soviets have been careful not to show any outward hostility toward the U.S. such government leaders as Premier Alexei Kosygin and Foreign Minister Gromyko have continued to encourage friendly relations with the United States.

But the party bosses, who manipulate the strings, haven't attempted to disguise their disapproval of the U.S. Brezhnev, for instance, has denounced the U.S. at the same time that Kosygin has expressed friendship.

Some Kremlinologists believe this indicates a split in the Soviet leadership. Others think it is a deliberate, two-faced policy--the official kface turned toward the outside world, the party face toward the inner communist world.

-Secrecy and Censorship- In disregard of President Nixon's open-administration policy, food and drug commissioner Herbert Ley, Jr., has imposed a subtle censorship upon his subordinates.

He has ordered them to report all "policy conversations with reporters to Joshua B.

With all too few exceptions, the Latins have long been the perennially sick men of the hemisphere economically and, as a result, he object of U.S. concern and attempted cures ranging from economic spinoffs of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Good Neighbor policy to John F. Kennedy's Alliance for Progress.

None, however, have seemed to do much more than chip away at the monumental problems of an under-developed continent apparently incapable of organizing itself for development.

Now, for a change, an encouraging word is heard. The latest report of the Inter-American Committee on the Alliance for Progress sums up 1968 as a relatively good year. Preliminary estimates covering 17 Latin nations show over-all gross product up 5.4 per cent per capita income up 2.5 per cent, exports up 4.5 per cent and industrial output up a solid 8 per cent.

Thirteen countries shared in the gains, with Argentina, Brazil and Mexico in the lead. Only four -- Ecuador, Paraguay, Panama and Peru -- registered declines.

There are still weak points -- poor showings in agriculture and continuing runaway population growth. But the report comes as a modest and needed shot in the arm for the Alliance which, after its launching with such high hopes, had seemed to bog down like its predecessors.

The 1968 gains are only a small step along the road Latin Mafia Goes International Inside Story of Cosa Nostra Attempt to Invade Britain London -- With its imagination La Cosa Nostra should go public -- issue securities instead of stealing them. It has such a fine eye for business methods, market analysis and foreign trade. Not too long ago, for example, it decided to go international. It had surveyed Britain. It had discovered that there were 1,000 gambling clubs and just one British Mafia outpost.

And the Tommy (Three Finger Brown) Luchese "family" decided to take over.

This story never has been told but it should be on the record. It saved the British much grief. And it reveals what puny weapons the moon-walkers American government must use in its eternal struggle against the criminal syndicate which now sees the entire world as its pearl-studded oyster.

We should start in Berkeley Square where the nightingales used to sing, the crap tables groaned, the dice rolled and the roulette wheels spun amid the clicking of pound note chips. Back in January 1967, an American Cosa Nostra "bottom" man (one of the troops) by name of Tommy Mancuso, along with an international mystery man called Herbert Itkin, visited the Colony Club.

Mancuso, from New York, had money, muscle and a low brow. He was cast for the part -- a brutal slugger who has worked for the Luchese mob, along with such intimates of Jimmy Hoffa as Johnny Dio and Tony Ducks Corallo. This syndicate reaches from the posh coasts of Long Island into Eastern Pennsylvania and even on to the finest suburbs of Detroit.

Mancuso and Itkin, a strange pair informing for the FBI and the CIA these days, wanted to buy in. They also offered protection for sale. None of this amateurish young tough stuff from Midland England and Scotland, but real hard, brass-knuckle, American Mafia muscle to push out the British gentlemen investors.

Mancuso quickly made the rounds. Along the river. Up into castle country. Into the splendid, heavily chandelied clubs.

His contact was a fellow known as Al Dimeo (phonetically spelled). He had some 40 or 50 lads of his own. But with common good sense he deferred to the lethal Mancuso.

Well, yes, Virginia, there is a Scotland Yard. Mancuso, who had seen a movie or two, thought those fine chaps with the rolled umbrellas and pipes tightly clenched by grinding teeth of British-looking fellows coming out of that block-long, low building, halfway between Buckingham Palace and Parliament Square, were central casting office actors.

Well, they are fine detectives. And they work closely with the FBI. They knew Tommy Mancuso was there all along. They just let him hang himself that's all. Actually he arrived in Britain, a confidential report says, on Jan. 18, 1967 with Itkin and Tony Ducks -- a friend of American judges, financiers, political leaders and sundry teamsters officials.

At the advice of Scotland Yard, British immigration authorities simply put the acidic Cosa Nostra underboss Tony Ducks back on the next plane to the U.S. Herber Itkin voluntarily returned with Ducks. Mancuso stayed on. Itkin shuttled back to Britain and made the rounds with Mancuso during this first effort to plant the Cosa Nostra in the British Isles.

When Mancuso returned to the U.S. via the John F. Kennedy International Airport he was arrested. Not, my friends, for trying to move the Cosa Nostra across international borders. Not for attempting to terrorize Britishclub owners into buying his protection. And not for attempting to frighten them into "selling" him part interest in Britain's gaming rooms.

It is a mark of the rigidity, perhaps stupidity is the word, of America's laws that Mancuso was arrested for violating Title 18 U.S. Code Section 1407. This means that this man who is listed by the Justice Dept. as a trusted soldier in the Luchese family was picked up for failing to inform the U.S. Customs office that he, as a previous narcotics offender, was leaving and then re-entering the U.S. These are misdemeanors.

It carries a penalty of one year -- and with good behavior the muscle man, even if found guilty, could be out in nine months.

But nine months is better than nothing. So after him went 38-year-old Fordham graduate, special U.S. Attorney Daniel P. Hollman, then head of the Justice Dept.'s Brooklyn coordinated anti-organized crime strike force of the type first lauded in Buffalo, N.Y.

It took over two years. But Mr. Hollman, now head of President Nixon's extraordinary national-state-local coordinated anticrime council in New York, got Mancuso, and Mancuso, some weeks ago, got one year. This prison sentence will roll off him like whiskey droplets off a shot glass.

So for attempting to open the United Kingdom to the type of brutality and corruption we Mafia watchers expose regularly, Tommy Mancuso, front for politically powerful Tony Ducks Corallo, got nothing.

To punish him, he powerful U.S. government had to find, and was lucky that Dan Hollman did, some obscure section of the penal code.

How different here in Britain. When British mob leaders such as the Krays brothers and the Richardson gang got tough and bloody, the English courts simply put them on trial. No judge, no politician could be reached. And the thugs were jailed. For 30 to 40 years no less.

This Anglo-Saxon law works splendidly -- if it isn't corrupted. They just let him hang himself that's all. Actually he arrived in America must travel to achieve efficient economies capable of supporting the world's fastest growing populations at something safely above the misery levels. But every little bit helps. And if this area of vast but still scarcely tapped natural and human resources can at last be brought into the community of developed nations, it will be an immense step forward not only for the hemisphere but for the entire world as well.

Marriage is like a railroad sign. You see a lovely girl and stop. Then you look. And after you're married you listen.

The handsome young man walked into a drug store that was operated by two old maids and said, rather sheepishly, "Every time that I see a woman, I want to hug and kiss her and make passionate love. What can you give me?"

The one old maid leaned over to the other old maid for a brief consultation and then replied, "My sister and I will give you five hundred dollars and the drug store!"

Don't be too sure about this prosperity they say -- are enjoying. Just remember when the hog's the fattest, that's when it goes to the butcher.

Seat Belts Pay Off A Cleveland, Ohio, judge is doing his bit to promote traffic safety. Municipal Court Judge Lloyd O. Brown is not only penalizing speeders, he's rewarding them -- if they are found wearing seat belts at the time of the violation.

Cleveland police have begun noting on traffic citations when seat belts are in use. A heavy-footed salesman was the first beneficiary of the new policy.

The judge fined him $20 and costs for speeding on the city's shoreway, but suspended $5 of the fine because he had his seat belt buckled.

This is one city where it pays to wear your seat belt, in more ways than one.

H.L. Hunt Says

PROGRESS UNDER COMMUNISM?

Supporters of our personal enterprise system are often asked why Russia has been able to make such great progress during the past fifty years, if communism is much an evil system. The belief that the Russians are much better off under communism has been held by many people, but it is completely false.

The Soviet Union has advanced technologically, but nearly all of this advancement has gone into the production of armaments and into the Soviet space program. Thus the communists are able to fight freedom throughout the world, but the people themselves are not helped.

Consumer goods are extremely scarce in communist Russia. People must wait in line for hours just to buy a new coat or a pair of shoes. There are endless waiting lists for larger items, such as automobiles. The average Russian's standard of living is only slightly better, if any, than in 1917.

The state-owned economy is often unable to supply basic necessities to the people. Several famines have occurred since the Bolsheviks took over. Most recently, there was a severe food shortage in 1963. Only shipments of grain from the free world kept this scarcity from being disastrous. Before communism, the people could own their own land and grow enough food to meet their own needs.

True progress should be measured in terms of the individual's opportunity to make a better life for himself. In the Soviet Union, where the state determines the disposition of each person's life, this opportunity is totally lacking. No one progresses under slavery except the slavemasters. HLH

Homosexual Needs To Know Deferment Rules

Dear Ann Landers: I am a homosexual who is due to be drafted soon. I have been told that if I tell the truth about myself I will be rejected.

What I need to know is this: How secret are those records? Is it possible the information can be used against me later in life? I have managed to keep my homosexuality well concealed. Even my parents are unaware of it. Will they be informed if I am rejected on these grounds? Please help me. — Double Lifer

Dear D.: In order to obtain a 1-Y or 4-F classification you need a letter of certification from a physician or a psychologist or a psychiatrist stating that you are a homosexual.

This letter of certification becomes part of your permanent history and is available to many government agencies. Moreover, a future employer may ask for permission to see the file and your refusal to produce it could be a red flag.

See a draft counselor and discuss your problem with him. Perhaps you are eligible for deferment on grounds less complicated.

Dear Ann Landers: Just a doggone minute, please. Your statement that it's a federal offense to open someone's else's mail is a phony.

I am Chairman of the Missouri Council on Family Law. For the past eight years divorced men have been screaming their heads off about in-laws who intercept child-support checks addressed to their ex-wives. We've also heard a lot of yelling about children who intercept social security and welfare checks intended for elderly parents.

Yes, there's a federal law, but we have yet to get even one conviction. The best we can get is a light rap now and then when somebody burns a check or forges a signature. If you can tell us how to make this federal law stick you will be helping a great many people. I am sick and tired of hearing that "Federal jurisdiction ends the minute the letter hits the mailbox of the person to whom the letter is addressed." — E.A. of St. Louis

Dear E.A.: I'm sorry you are sick and tired of hearing that phrase because you are going to hear it one more time — with a slight variation. My attorneys tell me that so long as the letter is in the mailbox, the person to whom it is addressed can invoke the law. But here's the hooker: When the letter is taken out of the mailbox and tossed on the kitchen table, it is no longer under the protection of the postal authorities.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm still laughing about the meter reader who turned around and looked into the eyes of the woman who was doing her laundry stark naked, except for her son's football helmet.

If he had been any kind of gentleman, Ann, he would have bowed courteously and said, "Excuse me, sir."

Pass the word for next time, please. — Windy City.

DAOEC Meeting

Held In Bell City

BELL CITY — Mrs. Mona Bloomfield, A. O. C. Director, and James Jones, program director, both from the D.A.O.E.C. office, Portageville, spoke at the Grayridge-Bell City Centers Advisory Boards meeting Tuesday, in the Bell City center building.

Fourteen were present. Mrs. Bloomfield gave a report of the meeting in Kansas City. She reported this area has one of the best administered programs in the 11 regions of Missouri. The co-ordination is sound, but the community involvement is weak. The needs are for self-help, and more work with lower income people, who do not have enough interest to attend the meetings, she said.

Jones presented, for the boards approval, the proposed program for the coming year. The grant was approved, with the stipulation that each center have equal personnel.

In addition to the speakers, those in attendance were: Mrs. Joan Peters, co-ordinator of the Grayridge center, Paul H. Barks, co-ordinator of the Bell City center, Mrs. Grace Walker, E. O. S. D. developer of Stoddard and Scott counties; Mrs. Madia Green, E.O.D. counselor of Stoddard county; Jay Rankins, Norris Griffin, and Cooper Washington, board members of the Grayridge center; Bill A. S. T. A. M. P. E. D. O'Heren, DAOEC board member; C. G. Lemmons, Max Bollinger, Darnell Brown and the Rev. John Maynard, all board members from the Bell City center.

What do you wear in the rain? Something old and drab? That same raincoat you've been wearing for the last 10 years? Galoshes over your shoes? If your rainy days have been synonymous with no-fashion days, it is a wonder that you've been suffering the rainy day blues.

It's easy to develop a great rainy day look. Never before have there been so many intriguing possibilities: maxicoats over midresses, pants suits with swash-buckling hats, "wet look" vinyls to gleam their way through the darkest day, pretend furs, leggy boots, and a whole range of colors and styles in umbrellas.

Today's rainwear is designed to look just as appropriate in the light of the sun or by moonlight as it does under cloudbursts. In fact that's the message behind this season's raincoats: they're all-purpose coats to be worn over all types of clothes from sun up till moon down.

Exotic colors, jasmine red, heather, moonbeam yellow, add drama to rainproof, water-repellent coats of stark simplicity. Florals and quilted coats double as evening wraps. The more adventurous can choose from several over-all fake fur styles, including tiger, leopard and a wild Dalmatian print.

The Gospel Visitor

By: Reedus M. Baugher

In dealing with the lost, there are different classes of individuals. We have already considered some of these, now let us consider the person who seems anxious to be saved and knows how, but has difficulties. I believe these would be saved, if convinced that the obstacles, whether imaginary or real can be overcome. We hear: (1) "I am too great a sinner." But remember, Paul said, "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief." (1 Tim. 1:15) And also, "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Rom. 5:8) Jesus said, "The Son of man is come to seek and save that which was lost." (Luke 19:10) And we also hear, (2) "I can't hold out, or I'm afraid of failure." Of course a person could backslide and fail if he choose to, but the point is he doesn't have to. God says, "Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as you have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee." (Heb. 13:5) "Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time." (1 Pet. 1:5) "Keep yourselves in the love of God... Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling..." (Jude 21, 24) Another says, (3) "I am too weak." These need to know, "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man; but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that you are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." (1 Cor. 10:13) Knowing this have the same confidence as Paul had, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Phil. 4:13) But we hear: (4) "I will be persecuted if I become a Christian." We should never tell anyone that they won't be persecuted, but we can show from the scriptures that persecution is the only path to eternal glory. Paul said in (2 Tim. 3:12) "All that live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." Christ said, "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 5:10-12) We learn that suffering of present is not worthy to be compared with what the Christian expects. (Rom. 8:18) "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." It is a privilege to be persecuted, read Acts 5:41; 1 Pet. 2:20. And there is victory in persecution. (Heb. 12:2-3) "But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 15:57) (To be continued)

The Hugh Taylors Observe New Arrivals 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Taylor, Sikeston

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Taylor celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Aug. 3, with an open house given by their daughter and son-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Marshall Page, and Mrs. Marshall Page, and grandsons and wives, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Page, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Page.

The dining table had a gold cloth over-laid with white lace, centered with an arrangement of gold roses. Gold tapers were at either side of the flowers, and a crystal punch bowl and a wedding cake were at either end of the table.

The refreshments were served by Mrs. Marshall Page, Mrs. Margie Underwood, Mrs. Yewell Taylor and Mrs. Charlie Cooper.

The guest book was on a table in the living room, with a cloth matching the dining table cloth. Mrs. Hershah Page was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Taylor is the former Ethel Ward. She and Mr. Taylor were married at Charleston July 31, 1919.

Buds Eliminate Cooney From City Tourney

By DALE A. LEWIS

The second team was eliminated from the City Fastpitch Softball Tournament last night as Cooney Equipment lost to Budweiser 15 to 2. Presley Travel Trailers was the first to go, losing to the Bank of Sikeston 3 to 2 Wednesday night at City Park.

Budweiser used a 15-hit attack in routing Cooney, hitting around the line-up the first two innings for six of those hits good for nine runs. Dick Schuerenberg drove home five runs in the contest with two singles and a solo homer, his first of the season. Fred Steward hit the circuit driving in four runs with a single, a double, a triple,

Capacity Crowd To View Governor's Cup Battle

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Governor's Cup, or a Missouri mule? The cup is the trophy, the mule the booby prize and the outcome of tonight's preseason exhibition football game between the Kansas City Chiefs and the St. Louis Cardinals determines who gets what.

On one, the Chiefs of the American Football League seem to be in line for the Governor's Cup.

and a two-run homer, Charley Gardner pickup up three RBIs on a single and a sacrifice. Ron Borders single, J. P. Schuerff's double, and Sonny Wyatt's single accounted for the other Budweiser runs. J. P. Schuerff pitched a three-hitter, gaining Budweiser its first victory in the tournament after they lost their opener to First National 6 to 3 Tuesday night.

Cooney Equipment took a very brief 1 to 0 lead in the top of the first, when Danny Lape tripled to right and then came in to score on a sacrifice fly by Mike Pearson. Cooney scored its only other run of the contest in the sixth on a single by Randy Walker, a walk to Danny Spears, a passed ball, and a double steal.

In the nightcap, First National, with a four-run rally in the third, edged Barkett's Big Star 6 to 4 to remain undefeated in the tournament along with Sikeston Light and Water.

Barkett's jumped into a 1 to 0 lead in the first inning when John Chesser singled, went to third on Bill Merick's double, and then scored on a wild pitch. First National tied it up in the second on Terry Comstock's double a walk to Lee Shell, and a throwing error on an attempted steal. Barkett's came back in the top of the third to take a 2 to 1 lead when John Chesser reached on an error, then scored on Jerry Plunk's triple to right center. First National took the lead for good in the bottom of the inning with a four-run uprising. Dean Riley reached on an error and scored when Luke Black sent a triple into the leftfield corner. Pete Ledbetter doubled home another run, then scored himself on Terry Comstock's single. After Lee Shell grounded out,

With Labor Day coming up, the softballers take a four-day holiday from the tournament until next Tuesday. Action resumes that night with the Bank of Sikeston hosting Sikeston Motors in the 7 p.m. game, and Budweiser greeting Barkett's Big Star in the 8:30 nightcap.

Avid softball fans were treated to a rare twin-treat of pitching duels Wednesday night at City Park as action continued in the Fastpitch Softball through Sept. 9. According to the coach, no big surprises developed on the opening day of camp. All who were expected to report did so.

"We've got a lot of depth," he commented, "but are inexperienced. We're a little short on tackles, but our real problem is in the secondary. We have a lot of good, young defensive backs coming up, but not many will be ready to play this season."

Thrower said the only returning defensive back with any experience is John Bean, a 160-pound sophomore from St. Louis. Of the 13 starters not returning to the Indians, seven played on offense and six on defense. Among the departures are St. Louisans Walt Smallwood and John Diepenbrock, called by Thrower "the two best backs in the MIAA last season."

On the other hand, the Indians do have an experienced quarterback returning in Greg Schroeder, a 180-pound senior from St. Louis, and a weathered fullback in Bruce Hoffman, a 200-pound fullback from Park Forest, Ill.

Southeast Missouri State College head coach Tom Thrower calls 1969 a rebuilding year, yet at the same time he believes the Indians have a good crack at their third consecutive MIAA championship.

"Anytime you lose 13 starters, it's got to be a rebuilding year," explains Thrower. But he adds, "We think we'll be in the running for the conference title right down to the final game. Warrensburg is the team to beat in the conference, we feel."

The Indians, who won't meet Warrensburg's Central Missouri State College until Nov. 15, reported to camp Tuesday. Eighty-five freshmen, including 23 lettermen, are in the fold at the moment. Forty-one of them are freshmen hopefuls and 44 are upperclassmen and junior college transfers.

Thrower said the team will work out without pads twice a day through Friday. The players will "meet the press" at 10 Saturday morning (Aug. 30) and be given the remainder of the weekend off. They will put on the pads for the first time Monday. The two-day workouts will continue

SEMO State Looks Toward MIAA Title In Rebuilding Year

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State College head coach Tom Thrower calls 1969 a rebuilding year, yet at the same time he believes the Indians have a good crack at their third consecutive MIAA championship.

Bob Dyer brought home Comstock with a single, before Donnie White bounced out to end the inning. Barkett's wasn't down and out yet, though. A two-run fourth brought them to within one run of First National at 5 to 4, both runs scoring without the benefit of a base-hit. Two errors, a hit batsman, and two ground outs shoved the runs across. First National's Dean Riley then pitched scoreless ball the last three innings to preserve the victory. First National picked up in the fifth when Terry Comstock reached on an error, advanced to second on a wild pitch, then scored on Lee Shell's double to left.

With Labor Day coming up, the softballers take a four-day holiday from the tournament until next Tuesday. Action resumes that night with the Bank of Sikeston hosting Sikeston Motors in the 7 p.m. game, and Budweiser greeting Barkett's Big Star in the 8:30 nightcap.

Charleston Wins Own Tourney

Charleston took the championship title of its own Babe Ruth League Invitational tournament last night with a 7-1 win over Vanduser.

In the consolation game, Ilmo finished with third place honors as it took a 9-8 victory over East Prairie.

Charleston accumulated a total of nine hits in the championship contest while Vanduser came up with only five.

Ivan Pierce finished with the win for Charleston and Robbie Phillips took the loss for Vanduser.

Sportsmanship award in the tournament went to Vanduser, who also took the same honor in the Sikeston tournament.

Bank of Sikeston's Bud Bane and Presley Trailers' Don Wisdom matched five-hit pitching in the first game with the Bankers finally coming out on top 3 to 2. A two-run homer by the Bank's Jim Burden decided the contest in the fifth, after Presley Trailers had taken a 2 to 1 lead in the second on a towering two-run homer by Buck Presley. The Bank scored its other run in the first when Jim Burden singled and went to second on an error. Burden moved to third on a groundout by Jerry Sherry, then scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Larry Burden.

Presley Trailers threatened to make a different ballgame out of it in the final frame after two were out. Bob Blair then drew a Base-on-Balls, bringing up the lead-off batter, Jim Shuffit. With the count 1 strike and 1 ball, Shuffit lifted a towering flyball into leftfield. With his back to the fence, the Banks' Larry Harshberger hauled in the "almost" home-run for the final out.

Last night's loss was Presley's second in the double-elimination and Murray, Ky., State University.

"We'll be doing a lot of experimenting between now and the first game," Thrower said, "and if we can win two of the first four, we'll be a success."

Aaron Gains 25; Huntz 545 Back

"Never look back," says Satchel Paige, "something or somebody may be gaining on you."

It's a problem. Hank Aaron doesn't have. He can peek back all he wants because he only guy doing any gaining is Henry himself.

The Atlanta slugger unloaded two more home runs Thursday night, including the 12th grand slam of his career, leading the Braves to an 8-2 romp over Pittsburgh. The two homers gave him 36 this year and 546 for his career—third on the alltime list behind Babe Ruth's 714 and Willie Mays' 598.

Aaron has gained 25 homers on Mays this season. Willie started the year 77 ahead of Henry, 587 to 510 but now the margin is down to 32.

Aaron is 545 homers ahead of Steve Huntz, St. Louis' rookie infielder, who hit his first major league homer in the 10th inning to give the Cardinals a 2-1 decision over Houston.

In other National League games Thursday, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 4-3, Chicago dropped Cincinnati 3-1 and Montreal ripped Los Angeles 36, New York and San Diego were off.

In the American League, Boston outlasted Kansas City 9-8, Baltimore topped Seattle 4-3 in 11 innings and Detroit defeated Oakland 4-3 in 13 innings. The other teams were not scheduled.

Aaron got the Braves off in front quickly with a two-run homer in the first inning after Tony Gonzalez had walked.

Atlanta was leading 4-1 in the seventh and loaded the bases on singles by George Stone and Felix Millan and an error. Aaron hit reliever Bruce Del Canton's first pitch for the grand slam—giving him six RBIs for the night.

Stone gave up 11 hits before being relieved in the eighth inning but won his 11th game. Steve Blass, 13-8, took the loss.

Tournament, gaining them the dubious distinction of being the first team to be eliminated.

Sikeston Light & Water tangled with Sikeston Motor Company in the second game last night and with Earl Watson again on the mound, emerged with a 2 to 0 victory. As it turned out, L & W got the only run it needed in the second inning. With one away, Kenny Anderson reached first on an error and went to second on a sacrifice bunt by Tom Mastersen.

Bethel Garner then brought Anderson home with a line double to left center. Light & Water picked up an insurance run in the sixth when Ronnie Bloemer hit a solo shot over the right centerfield fence. Meanwhile, Sikeston Motor threatened seriously only in the third. With two away, Jim Kindle singled. Then a fly ball off the bat of Gary Harper was dropped for error, putting runners at second and third. Lanny Presley then ended the inning by bouncing out to the pitcher.

It was a pitcher's duel all the way, as L & W's Watson gave up only four hits, while Sikeston Motor's Don Harper only allowed six.

Sikeston Light and Water remained undefeated in the tournament, while Sikeston Motor suffered its first loss to go with one victory.

In case you missed Tuesday night's games, First National opened their tournament play with a 6 to 3 win over Budweiser, while Cooney Equipment dropped an 8 to 4 contest to Barkett's Big Star.

CIRCUIT COURT OF THE
COUNTY OF SCOTT
STATE OF MISSOURI
Plaintiff
vs.
HARVEY ALONZO POWELL
Defendant
Number 5759
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
OF NOTICE

The State of Missouri to defendant Harvey Alonzo Powell. You are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against you in the Circuit Court for the County of Scott, Missouri, the object and general nature of which is action for divorce.

The names of all the parties to said suit are stated above in the caption hereof and the name and address of the attorney for plaintiff is Mr. Robert A. Dempster 215 North Stoddard Street, Sikeston, Mo. 63801.

You are further notified that, unless you file an answer or other pleading or shall otherwise appear and defend against the aforesaid petition within 45 days after the 15th day of August 1969, judgment by default will be rendered against you.

It is ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the Daily Sikeston Standard a newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Scott, State of Missouri.

A true copy from the record.
Witness my hand and the seal of the circuit court this 13th day of August, 1969.

Lynn F. Ingram
Circuit Clerk

TRUSTEE'S SALE
WHEREAS, Bob G. Hutchison and Gladys M. Hutchison, his wife, by a certain Deed of Trust dated the 9 day of September, 1968, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County of Scott and the State of Missouri, in Book 162, Page 71, conveyed to the undersigned Trustee the following described real estate situated in the County of Scott and State of Missouri, to wit:

All of eighty feet off the West end of Lots Eleven and Twelve in Block Eleven (11) in the Town of Diehlstadt, Scott County, Missouri.

Which conveyance was made to the undersigned in trust to secure the payment of a certain Promissory Note in said Deed specified; and

WHEREAS, on the 1 day of May, 1969, Earl L. Stevens and Rita S. Stevens, his wife, assumed and agreed to pay the debt secured by said Deed of Trust; and

WHEREAS, said note is now past due and remains unpaid; default having been made in the payment of said note.

NOW, THEREFORE, at the request of the legal holder of said Note and in pursuance of the conditions of said Deed of Trust, the undersigned Trustee will sell the property above described as public venue to the highest bidder for cash at the Main front door of the Circuit Court House in the City of Benton, Scott County, Missouri, on September 23, 1969, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness and the cost of executing this trust.

John Malone's Plane Damaged in Fall

50 years ago
August 29, 1919
John Malone's airplane was considerably damaged, when it fell about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Steele, Mo. It was carrying three men, aviator Crockett, Henry Clay Lewis of Caruthersville and John Malone, when they either struck an air pocket or the control jammed.

The three men escaped without injury. Malone was unconscious and black from suspended animation. Dr. Rodes came and tried artificial respiration for some time before there was any sign of life. Examination showed a broken limb of the tree, by his mother, who had been told by Harrison Tanner that Kemper had fallen from a tree. When she afternoon as satisfactory. Seventeen-year-old Carolyn Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilkinson of Sikeston has been selected to represent the Cotton Carnival Committee of Henry Melder Post 114 of the American Legion in the Jackson Homecoming queen contest at Jackson tomorrow. Plans for the approaching marriage of Miss Flois Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Nelson of Route 1, and James C. Collier, son of Mrs. Betty Collier, have been announced. The wedding will take place on September 9 in St. Louis with the Rev. E.W. Bartley officiating.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

When, he, the Spirit of Truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth. (John 16:13)
PRAYER: Father, as I pray help me to push aside the myriad voices of my little world and concentrate on listening to Thy voice. May Thy spirit uphold me and by my guide this day. In the name of the Master. Amen.

If You Were the Judge Personality Not Force in Legal Sense

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.
Mark was tall, dark and handsome. He was also aware of it. Consequently, he had no difficult building up a reputation as a Casanova. And while Peggy was aware of his reputation, she quickly forgot his past for the present as she sat with him under twinkling stars.
In fact, before she hardly knew what she was doing, she swooned into his great big strong arms. The next morning, as the expression goes, Peggy hated herself, but she hated Mark even more. What's more, she sued him for assault and battery and alleged that he had compromised her, by force, the prior evening.
"The charge is absurd," was Mark's answer. "I didn't use any force. I didn't even flex a finger. I merely opened my arms and Peggy fell into them."
"He did use force," was Peggy's answer, "but not the usual kind. When he turned on his charms, which he did with malice aforethought. It was as compelling as if he held an H-bomb over my head. Simply, he was irresistible. I knew it and used his personality to overpower me. It was calculated force."
IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Casanova Mark pay for bliss-kripping Peggy under a romantic sky?
This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that an overpowering personality cannot be considered in the same category as force. A girl must develop her own defenses, concluded the judge, to such a hazard.
(Based upon a 1932 South Carolina Supreme Court Decision)

Army Canines Draw Sniffing Duty in Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Cookie and Smidgen are looking for Mary Jane in Vietnam.
The two are a male-female team of German shepherd dogs brought into the country by the U.S. Army on "temporary duty status" after 16 weeks of intensive training on Okinawa. They were drafted for a military effort to curb the shipment of marijuana back to the States by servicemen.
"Cookie and Smidgen are the only two dogs who passed the course out of 30 candidates. For 16 weeks the dogs were trained in basic obedience, safety, retrieving, and scouting, taking on their complex sniffing missions starting with a marijuana-filled toy.
The purchase and use of marijuana, also called Mary Jane, by GIs have long been a problem in Vietnam, although the extent has often been the subject of speculation.
In typical demonstrations, Cookie and Smidgen sniff their way past assorted pieces of baggage or packages and individuals and sniff out planned marijuana shipments or personal "stashies" in a man's baggy fatigue pockets. For his find the dog is rewarded with an affectionate pat on the head and given his stuffed toy to chew on while he bones up for his next sniffing mission. The toy is to remind the dog of the smell of marijuana while he's not sniffing packages.
According to the rules, the trainer can show affection for his dog only when he finds a hidden package.
During one demonstration at a military police battalion headquarters Smidgen failed to detect one packet.
"The dogs are not 100 per cent effective. They occasionally make mistakes the same as people do," said Sgt. Enns Cooper, the senior instructor in the program.
The library of Thomas Jefferson formed the nucleus of the Library of Congress.

1,550 Salvation Army Workers in Storm Area

ST. LOUIS — Salvation Army forces are serving 40,000 Mississippi flood victims, as Salvationists across the country are collecting and sending clothing, bedding, and blankets to the disaster area.
Two truckloads of materials have been sent from Philadelphia, Pa., and Cincinnati, O. Forty Salvation Army canteens, equipped with water purifiers, are on duty, serving food. The canteens have been sent from Army centers throughout the Southeast. One hundred Salvation Army staff personnel are on duty.
Major Walter Kennedy advises that the Indianapolis, Indiana Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center is accepting clothing and a truckload of blankets has already been sent to Gulfport, Mississippi. The Salvation Army is working out in the open air, there is no shelter available. To meet the need for water the Salvation Army in Florida is shipping orange juice as a water substitute. Authorities are permitting Salvation Army vehicles free access to the disaster areas, and Army food and clothing depots are functioning in Gulfport, Biloxi, Long Beach, Bay St. Louis, Hattisburg, Pascagoula, and Pass Christian.
Seventy-two families in New Orleans were moved by Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center trucks. The Army is also assisting with emergency housing in Mobile.
The Army has become initially involved for the expenditure of $500,000 on behalf of the hurricane victims. Financial support is being sought from the public in addition to food and bedding. Funds for the disaster may be sent to: The Salvation Army Hurricane Disaster Fund, 2827 Clark Ave., St. Louis, Missouri, 63103. Persons wishing to send bedding and clothing directly may ship to: The Salvation Army, 205 Bushman Avenue, Hattisburg, Mississippi, or The Salvation Army, 2001-24th Avenue, Gulfport, Mississippi. Last night one Salvation Army Center had run out of clothing, but persons were asked to return this morning, as supplies were being continuously replaced. Commissioner Paul J. Carlson, Territorial Commander for the Central States, announced that all Salvation Army Centers would be available to receive donations of bedding and additional truckloads of material will be dispatched to Mississippi

OBITUARIES

RAYMOND CHESTER BARD

EAST PRAIRIE -- Funeral services for Raymond Chester Bard, 66, will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Shelby Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Don Woodstock, pastor of First Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery at Charleston.

He died in a doctor's office Wednesday afternoon at Barry, Illinois.

He was born at East Prairie Jan. 18, 1904 and married Miss Erlene Russell of East Prairie, who preceded him in death March 7, 1930.

He had been employed for 17 years as a right-of-way foreman for Dunker Road Construction Co. of Hull, Ill., where he resided at the time of his death.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Minnie Gullion Bard, Matthews of East Prairie; three sisters, Mrs. John Kemp of East Prairie; Mrs. William Lozer of Waterloo, Iowa and Mrs. Felix Stratton of Springfield, Mo. and a brother, Alex Bard of Springfield.

JUANITA ROWE

CHARLESTON -- Mrs. Juanita Rowe, 82, died 12:30 a.m. Friday in the Host House at Charleston, after an extended illness.

She was born June 28, 1887, in Dexter. In June, 1909, she married Zeth Raymond Rowe, who survives.

Mrs. Rowe had lived in Charleston past 60 years and was a member of the United Methodist Church of Charleston.

Survivors other than her husband are two sons, Robert Rowe and John Paul Rowe, both of St. Louis; a daughter, Mrs. Ben Cowan, Jr. of Dexter; and 7 grandchildren.

The body is at the McKimble Funeral Home in Charleston, where friends may call after 6 p.m. today.

Services will be held in the McKimble Chapel 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Ben Russell, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Dexter, officiating. Burial will follow in the IOOF Cemetery in Charleston.

leadership and assistance for a grain marketing co-op in Southeast Missouri.

LEADERSHIP — Favor the limitation of all state elected office holders to set number of years or terms.

MEMBERSHIP — That intensive membership programs are important and therefore all non-members must be informed of Farm Bureau's past, present, and future accomplishments and ideas.

NATIONAL AND STATE PUBLIC RELATIONS — That Farm Bureau public relations should call public attention to the fact that articles in national news magazines have repeatedly, grossly and maliciously distorted farm interest, attacked government program, R.E.A. subsidies and the whole program.

RAILROADS — That the railroads should have the right to discontinue runs whenever they have proven unprofitable.

SCHOOLS — Opposition to sex education in public schools and to SIECUS. We believe that financing of an effective program of public education is the joint responsibility of local, state and federal government.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE — The Secretary of Agriculture's first interest should be the welfare of farmers, even to the point of being biased.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICES OF THE UNITED STATES — Favor at least a three-fourth majority vote by the Congress of the United States and that potential candidates business background and law practice experience should be of utmost importance in determining his qualifications, and his political background should be ignored. That the decision handed down by the Supreme Court Justices have a two-third majority approval and that the Supreme Court Justices time of term be limited and mandatory retirement at age of 70.

TAXES — Oppose to any increases in real and personal property taxes in Missouri and ask that other taxes bear any increase necessary for additional revenue.

VOTER REGISTRATION — We favor the registration of voters statewide.

WELFARE — A study to explore the possibility of building homes for illegitimate children with education and care entirely out of such immoral environment. We are opposed to anti-poverty programs.

The newly elected officers for the coming year included; President, Hugh Torgers of Matthews; Vice-President, Dub Widner of Portageville; Secretary, Erwin Lloyd of Lilbourn; Treasurer, Arthur McMillin; Board member, Walter Landers, Jr. of Lilbourn; Hugh Landers of Gideon and Randy Porter of Matthews; President of the Township Board, Bobby Wrather.

TEMPUS FLIGIT: MAKES NEW YEAR'S EVE PLANS

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman called Jules Podell's Copacabana for a reservation for New Year's Eve. "Which New Year's Eve?" the non-plussed reservation clerk asked.

Former Kennett

Man Sentenced To Death

PARAGOLD Ark. - Circuit Judge Charles Light Wednesday sentenced a grimfaced Clyde Ray Glover, 36, of Paragould and formerly of Kennett, to die in the electric chair December 22, after a brief hearing in the courtroom. Glover was wisked off to Cummins State Prison by state's deputies where he will remain on Death Row while his attorney, W. B. Howard of Jonesboro, completes work on an appeal of the conviction to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

On August 22, Judge Light received a petition from Glover requesting a new trial, however after taking the matter under advisement, he turned down the request yesterday. He did grant Glover the right to appeal his case to the State Supreme Court, provided he does so within 60 days.

An all-male jury deliberated one hour and 45 minutes on July 23 before finding Glover 3% guilty of the first degree murder in the March 1 brutal slaying-burning of 20-year-old Judy Evans of Reector, Ark.

35% Route Four. The jury 6 recommended the death penalty 38% by electrocution for Glover.

Oldest of the literary prophets was Amos, who lived about 760 B.C.

First Step in Filming Underway on OEO Project

By JESSEE LYNN

HAYTI -- "The first step for the six-man crew of the special film projects division of the Paramount Pictures Corporation of Hollywood filming America's "best emergency commodity distribution program in Pemiscot County will end on Saturday, Kenneth M. Rosen, production executive said Friday.

"The crew began Monday filming what is to be a group of films, done in a documentary fashion for the office of Emergency Food and Medical Services of the O.E.O. (Office of Economic Opportunity)," Rosen said.

The contact for these films was signed two months ago in Washington by Dr. Thomas Bryant, director of Emergency and Medical Services of O.E.O. and film director, Lester Goldsmith.

"The idea of these films," Rosen said, "is to communicate on film the kinds of emergency foods and medical services that have been funded by O.E.O., throughout the country."

"The effort is to communicate to the general public and to O.E.O. facilities throughout the country, the projects which O.E.O. has funded in order to bridge a gap between the needs of various pockets of economic depression, and available resources," Rosen pointed out.

"The focus is on surplus food commodity, stamp programs, and medical services, which O.E.O. hopes to make more meaningful through the use of community action programs, with their facilities for out-of-reach workers, specialists and other professional and semi-professional personnel," Rosen explained.

"Training programs will be seen as will workers out in the field, surveying the needs of poor people," he said.

"Pemiscot County is the first stop for the film crew," Rosen continued. "Following the week here, the crew leaves for San Antonio, Tex., after that, locations include Georgia, Mass. Maine, Arizona, and California."

"Films are scheduled for completion by the Spring of 1970 - if all goes well," Rosen said, "one of this series of films may be completed by the end of the year."

"The Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation (DAEOC) was chosen as part of these films, through consultation in Washington, as an example of an on-going successful community action program," Rosen explained, "in which emergency food and medical aid were a prime importance."

Grain Market

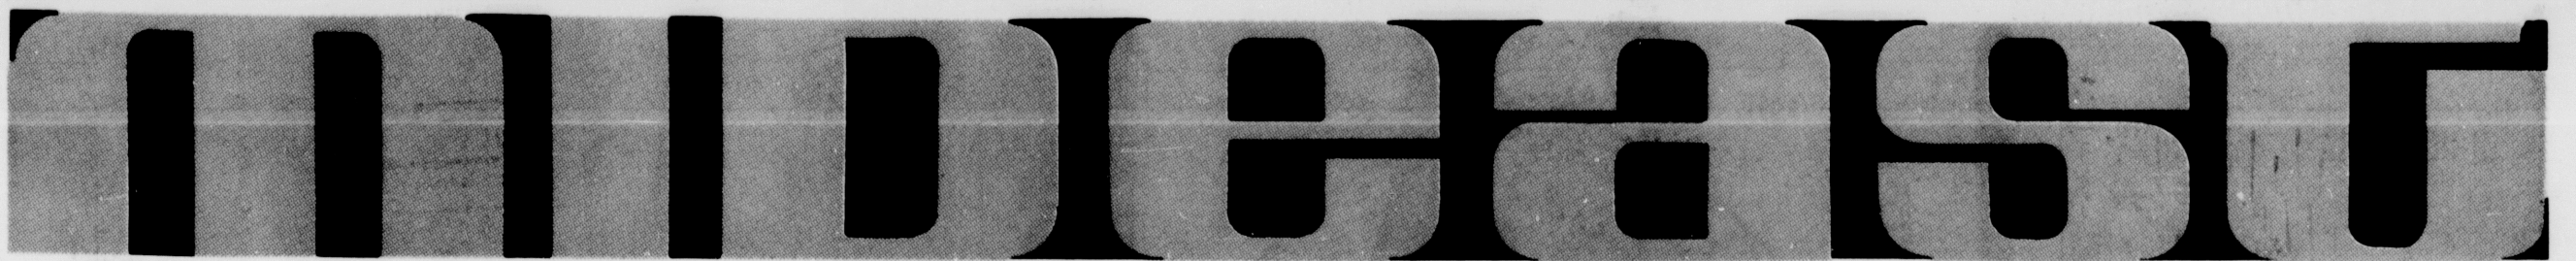

CHICAGO (AP) - Wheat futures were sharply higher in early dealings on the Chicago Board of Trade Friday but other grain prices were irregular and soybeans lower.

On the opening, wheat was 3/8 to 7/8 cent a bushel higher, September 1.28; corn was 1/8 lower to 1/8 higher, September 1.23 3/4; oats were 1/8 to 3/8 lower, September 587/8 cents; rye was 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, September 1.09 and soybeans were 1/8 to 5/8 lower, September 2.461/4.

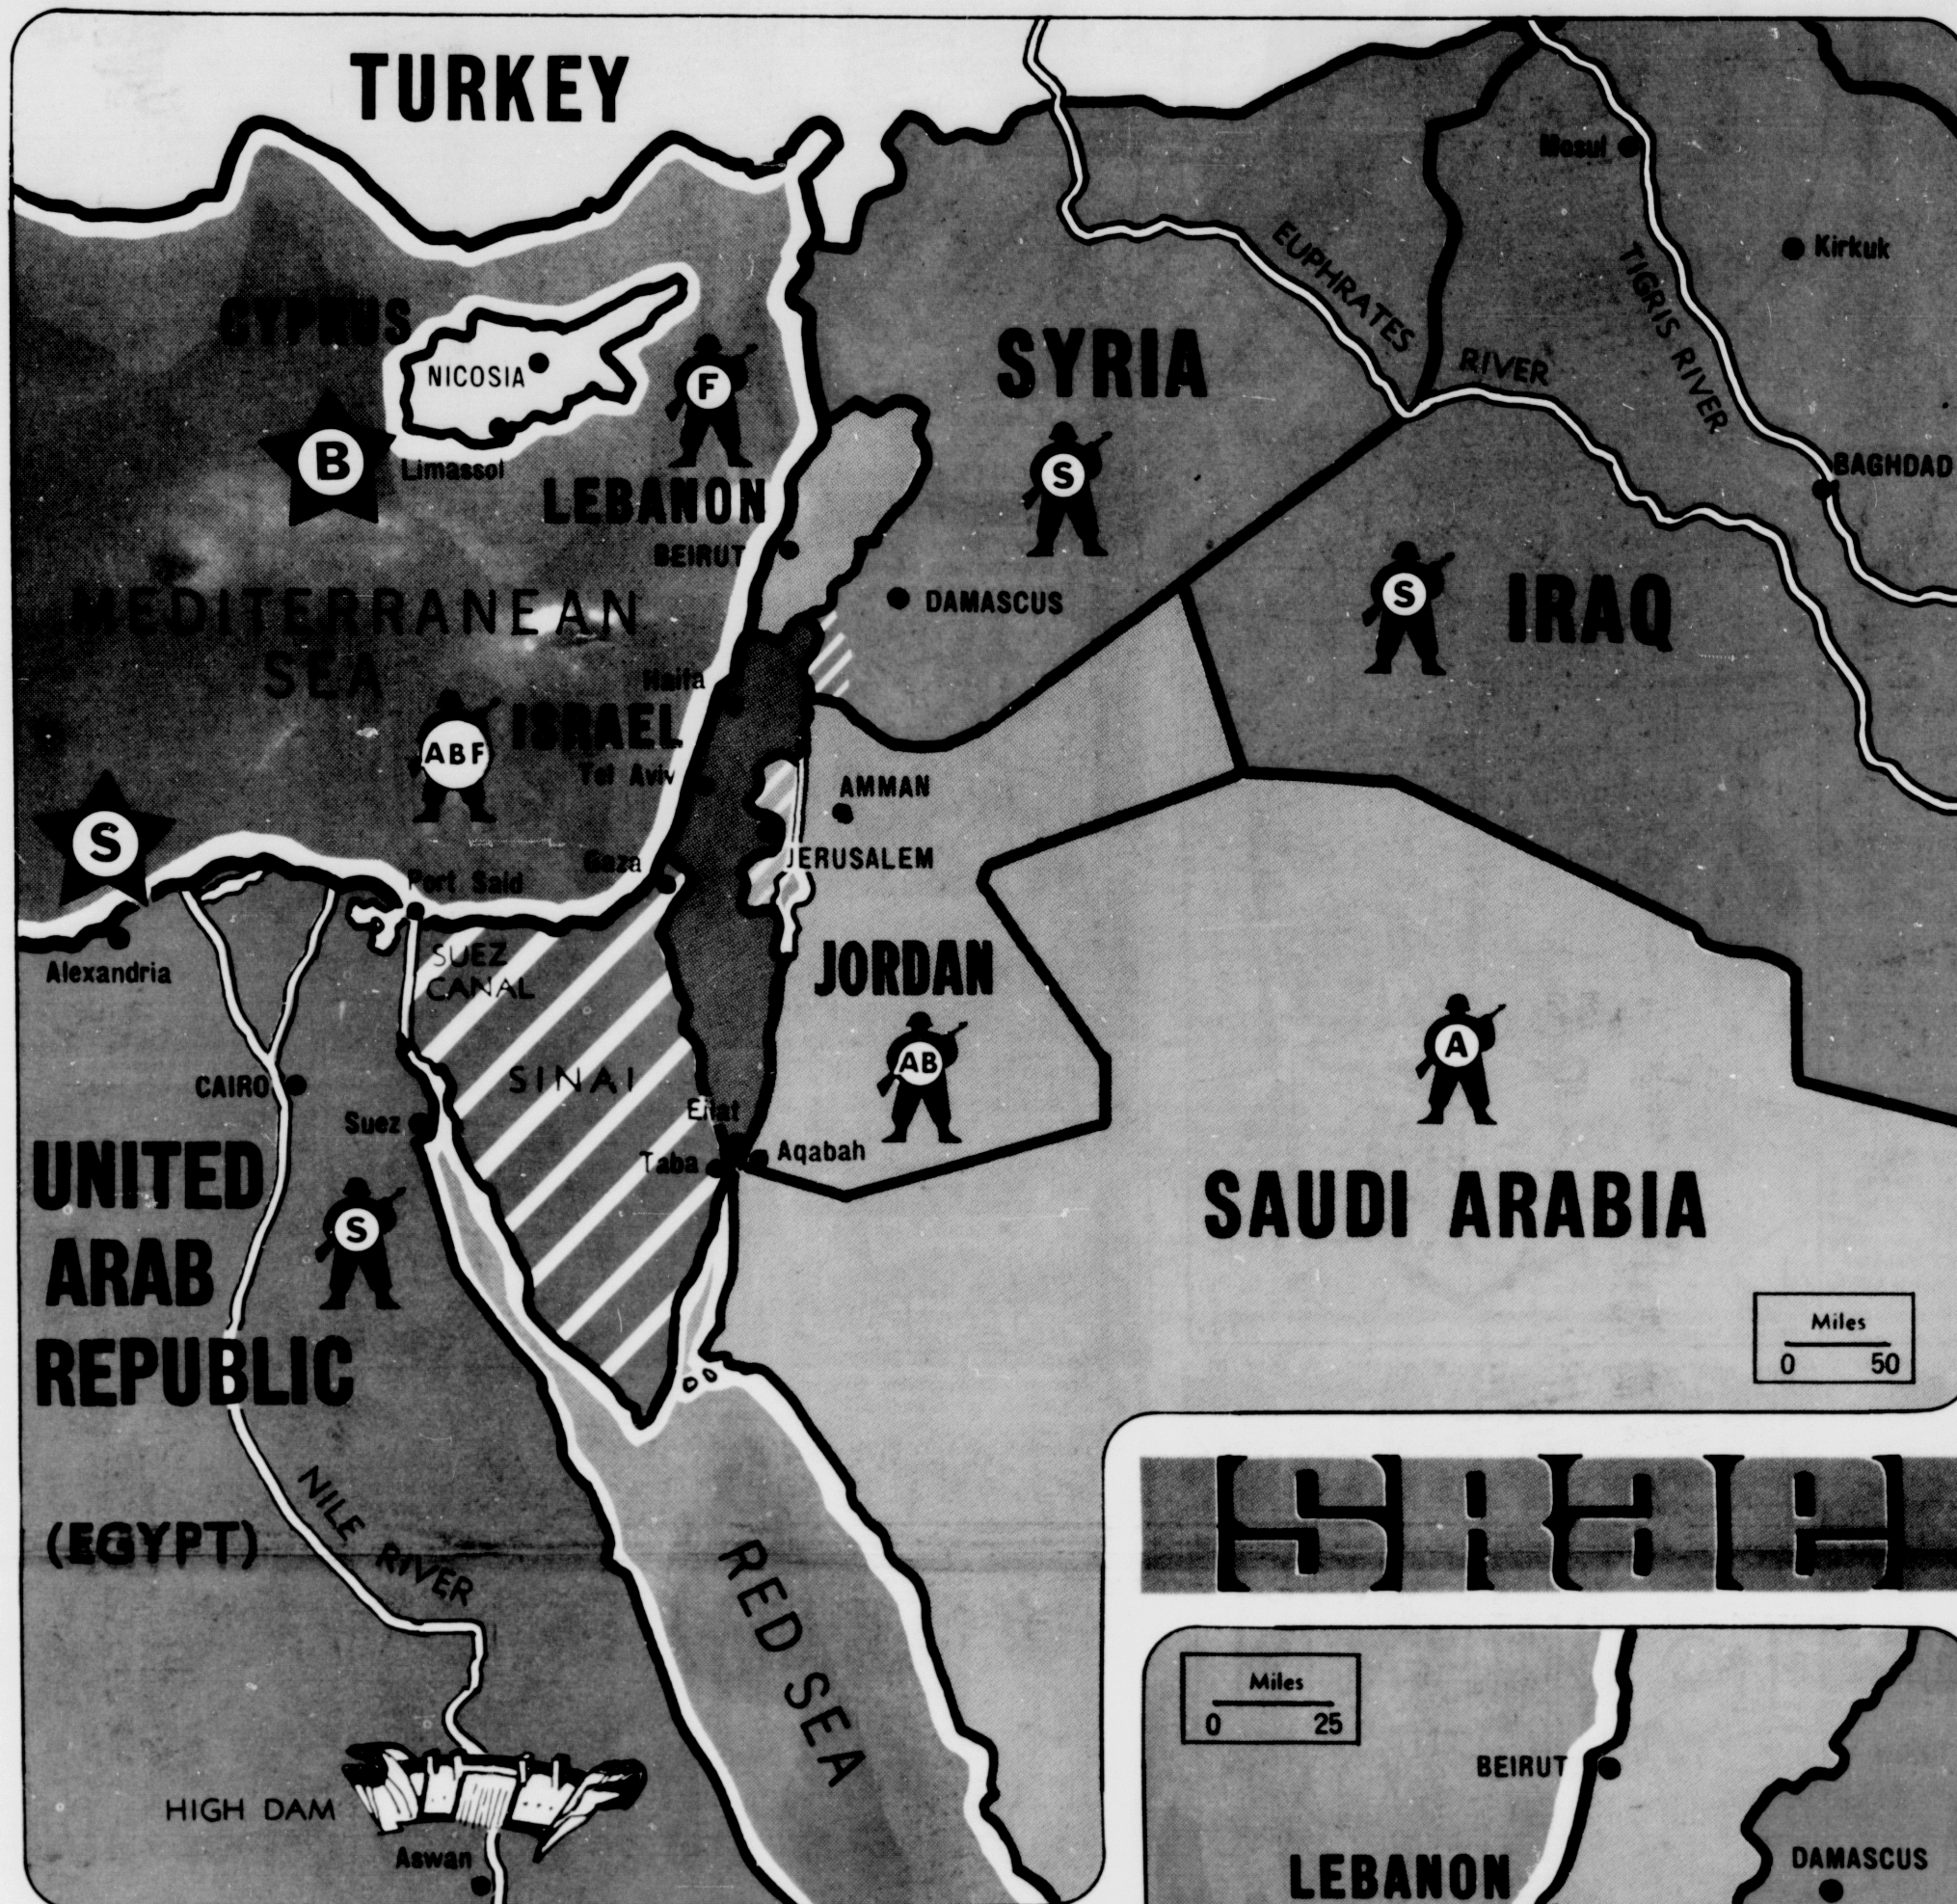

HEAVY SHARK

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands (AP) - Desmond Bougourd fought for 2 1/2 hours to land a 430-pound shark and now he's claiming a British record. The heaviest shark previously caught off Britain weighed 324 pounds.

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Aug. 29, the 21st day of 1969. There are 191 days left in the year.
Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1782, nearly 1,100 persons drowned when an English man-of-war sank while being repaired in the harbor at Portsmouth, England.

On this date: In 1916, a tidal wave wrecked an American cruiser on shoals at Santo Domingo in the Dominican Republic, with the loss of 43 lives.

In 1921 newspapers reported that members of the Ku Klux Klan had tarred and feathered 43 persons in Texas in the past week.

In 1935, Queen Astrid of Belgium was killed in an auto accident in Switzerland.

In 1942, during World War II, Danish warships were scuttled in the harbor of Copenhagen in an uprising against the Nazis.

In 1957, the U.S. Senate approved a broad civil rights bill after a long filibuster.

Ten years ago: India charged Communist Chinese border forces with aggression.

Five years ago: Hurricane Cleo broke up after causing heavy damage and loss of life in Guadeloupe, Haiti and Florida.

One year ago: Cice President Hubert H. Humphrey accepted the Democratic presidential nomination at a national convention in Chicago.

TV to Put Less Accent On Message

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A year ago, television producers, writers and stars were excited about messages and meaningful drama. During 1969-70, caution is the byword and the phrase used most often to describe the product is "pure entertainment."

The Establishment, wallowed vigorously last season by TV's bright, earnest young producers and performers, is likely to be treated tenderly. The memory of the Smothers Brothers cancellation by CBS is still painfully fresh in everybody's mind.

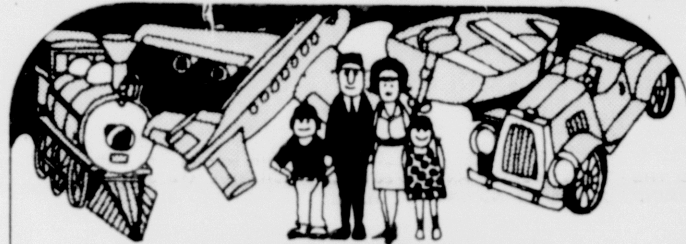

New faces, new situation comedies, new variety shows, cute children and winsome dogs will abound. Many shows will have a familiar look because there are only a dozen or so basic plots and not all of them work in series. Commercial television, in a play-safe year, has a tendency to hire specialists with proven track records in old shows to turn out new ones.

Veteran viewers are likely to recall "Route 66" when they see NBC's "Then Came Bronson." The new series stars one man on a motorcycle, instead of two in a sport car, but both were shot on location and involved in a new adventure in a different community each week.

Debbie Reynolds' comedy style is not at all like that of Lucille Ball, but if the premise and execution of "The Debbie Reynolds Show" is occasionally reminiscent of "I Love Lucy," it could be the influence of producer-creator Jess Oppenheimer. He was prominent in the birth of the Ball-Arnaz series 18 years ago.

ABC's, CBS's and NBC's new medical shows will inevitably remind one of yesteryear's Kildare and Casey. Cute children have often helped a run-of-the-mill situation comedy into the winners' circle, and in a

Petitions To Probe Patrol Filed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Mrs. Marlene K. Barrett of Maplewood, Mo., will have to wait a bit, apparently to find out whether Gov. Warren E. Hearnes will order an investigation of the State Highway Patrol as she demanded.

Mrs. Barrett delivered to the Governor's office Wednesday a batch of petitions denouncing the patrol for the fatal shooting last July 16 of a 16-year-old fugitive from the Boonville Training School For Boys.

The petition said "we call upon you to take all necessary steps to prevent any further possible occurrences of cold blooded murder by your law enforcement officers."

Mrs. Barrett said the petitions contained more than 400 names. She said she alone got up the petition and circulated it. Hearnes is vacationing at his home in Charleston, Mo., and is not expected back in his office for several days.

James Robert Brooks of Maplewood, Mo., and two other Training School inmates stole a truck to leave a work detail in Cuivre River State Park. They drove to Dixon, Mo., home of one of the others. The other two were captured without incident.

Brooks, in a stolen station wagon, was accosted by patrol trooper James Temmen near Dixon. Brooks ignored an order to halt and ran, instead, across a field. The official report said Temmen shot once with a buckshot loaded shotgun at a distance of 130 steps. Two of the nine pellets hit the youth. One that struck him in the head was fatal.

Temmen was exonerated the next day by a coroner's jury.

Electronic Records Used By PCA

The Sikeston Production association for its fourth consecutive year has gone into electronic farm record systems. Monday through Wednesday, PCA area representatives attended a three-day advance training in processing farm records, at the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank in St. Louis.

Computer systems are used by many farmers associated with PCA, for tax management on their farm operations.

Area representatives present at the sessions were Kenneth Williams, Sikeston; Bill Chambers, Charleston; Gene Lancaster, Portageville; Tom Love, Dexter; and George Miller, Poplar Bluff.

Burfordsville Truck Driver Loses Life

William Aufdenberg, 55, Burfordsville, died of injuries sustained in an automobile accident at 8 a.m. today. The state patrol reported he was driving west on highway 34, about four miles west of Jackson.

He had stopped his 1957 Ford pick-up truck, and appeared to be backing into a private drive.

The truck rolled down the hill, throwing him out and ran over him.

Aufdenberg was admitted to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau. He died there at 9 a.m.

WHISTLES 'ARCHAIC'

LONDON (AP) — Police in Devon and Cornwall counties are handing in their whistles — 2,000 of them. A spokesman said whistles are "an archaic means of calling for help" rarely used by men on the beat who now carry two-way radios.

Conservative Students Convene

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative-oriented organization, opens its national convention today with the stated purpose of formulating a legal attack on the revolutionary tactics of the new left.

But, says David Keene, national vice chairman of YAF, there are factions within the 51,000-member organization which disagree on how best to fight the leftist student movement, and even a small group which favors a coalition with those who have disrupted routine on many college campuses. About 1,000 delegates representing some 513 YAF chapters are expected for the convention.

Keene, a law student at the University of Wisconsin, said "there will be a lot of noise, a lot of talk, I expect, but the dissidents don't have much strength numerically."

He said there are three principal factions within the organization—"the libertarians, the traditionalists and the middle ground."

"The libertarian is interested principally in individual and free choice to the extent that his is all-important," Keene said. "The traditionalist tends to exalt tradition and order, civilization, moving in an orderly manner."

The 24-year-old Keene said he considers himself in the middle ground group and has support from both other factions in his bid to become national chairman of YAF.

Keene said a small group headed by Karl Hess IV, son of a former speechwriter for Sen. Barry Goldwater, supports a coalition with the student leftists.

"He thinks we're all a bunch of Fascists," Keene said.

Keene and Michael Thompson, national secretary of YAF and a graduate student at the University of Missouri, said they prefer action in the courts against both the student groups which disrupt campus life and the college administrators who permit the disruption.

Pets Injured By Hurricane

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) - The crack of a rifle sounds repeatedly along the hurricane ravaged Gulf coast as man offers the mercy of death to injured and starving animals.

Miss Emily Gloeckler, president of the Florida Association of Humane Societies, said Hurricane Camille left untold thousands of dogs, cats and other pets hurt and homeless along the coastal areas of Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida.

Navy Seabees and Army National Guardsmen cooperating with the Humane Societies are said, destroying the animals, she said.

"It's so sad," Miss Gloeckler said, "but there is nothing else to do. We have been criticized for killing these animals, but many of them were too badly injured to save and we just can't find the space or food we need to care for the others."

More than one big, husky Seabee or soldier fought back tears as he placed the muzzle of his rifle between the trusting eyes of an injured dog and pulled the trigger, she said.

Donations coming from across the country are being used to care for some animals in areas that were not so badly damaged and to rebuild the Gulfport Animal Shelter, which was destroyed by the storm.

"Money is the thing we need most right now," Miss Gloeckler said. Some people are sending gifts of dog food, but we have no way to handle it. Food supplies for humans come first."

She said representatives from the American Humane Association in Denver, the Humane Societies of the United States in Washington, D.C., and the Humane Society of Pensacola, Fla., are in the Gulfport area, searching the rubble for injured animals and looking for their owners.

Lack of Action To Ease Campus Ferment Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some Republican congressmen who toured the nation's colleges last spring said the administration has done little to ease the basic sources of campus ferment.

"The critical urgency of the problem cannot be overstated," the 22 GOP congressmen reported to President Nixon June 17.

And now, Rep. William A. Steiger says: "I think it's fair to say most of the people who took that tour would tend to say things would still be difficult this year."

The Wisconsin congressman contradicted the assessment of Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, who was quoted last week as saying chances for a quiet year on campuses are very promising.

What We Think About It

By Lt. Colonel Norman E. May of Warwick, Bermuda

Empires-Colonialism-Dictatorship.

The old order changeth and the beneficent progressive and, in many cases, altruistic "Empires" of prewar II days, have been disbanded and liquidated to "free" their peoples to internal democratic rule. In practice, in all of the freed, newly formed developing countries I can think of, the peoples have been freed to become slaves of a bureaucratic military junta or a dictatorship controlled by their own educated and wealthy upper classes.

We confuse and mislead ourselves by the words we use and the way words are used, i.e. the "Democratic" Peoples Republic of North Korea denounces the "Imperialistic" U. S. A.

The "Democratic" Republic of Poland supports and condones Russia's invasion and subjugation of Czechoslovakia.

The Students for a Democratic Society are the leading anarchistic activists who are wrecking Universities, the red press and the Governments of Russia, Poland and East Germany decry the "Imperialistic", "colonial" activities of the U.S.A. and Great Britain.

We think and act and are influenced by slogans - at the end of World War I, Woodrow Wilson proclaimed and won enthusiastic support for, "the self determination of Nations" thereby redrawing the map of Europe and establishing more States and borders and governments to quarrel one with the other. How far down should self-determination go? To the Clans and Clan warfare of Scotland of the 13/1400's? Would not unification and collaboration one with the other be more realistic in the modern world?

World War II was fought to "save the world for Democracy" and beneficent colonial Empires, who were peacefully and purposely, if somewhat slowly, bringing their colonial possessions, through education and industrialization into the modern world, were disbanded and "democracy" was thrust on unready and unsophisticated peoples.

"One man one vote" is the unchallenged slogan of the day and Mr. Wilson is doing his utmost, regardless of consequences, to thrust it upon Rhodesia.

Is it any wonder that our younger maturing generation are "beset with a profound uneasiness" and that this uneasiness is shared by their elders?

Scott County Health Report 1968

ENVIRONMENTAL SANITATION

As people live closer together, they strain the eating, housing, water, recreational, and waste-disposal facilities of their communities more and more. The chances of epidemic disease are vastly increased. Thus a need for increased community health controls is created-a need that can only be met by a staff of trained and disciplined experts, these are the Sanitarians.

A public health sanitarian is a person who, because of his education, and experience in the biological and sanitary sciences, is qualified to take part in promoting and protecting the public health. He applies his technical knowledge to solve environmental health problems. He develops methods and carries out procedures for the control of the factors of man's environment that affect his health, safety, and well-being. These factors are air, water, waste, food, drink, chemicals, cosmetics, and shelter; disease-producing germs, birds, rodents, insects, and other vermin; and other external and internal physical conditions of man's life. The sanitarian screens, tests, devises, and evaluates methods, materials and equipment to accomplish his objectives.

Sanitarians survey streams, reservoirs, ponds, and other bodies of water to guard against pollution. They inspect restaurants and food manufacturing and processing plants to ensure that standards of sanitation are being met. They work closely with dairy farmers and dairy plants to keep milk and other dairy products safe for public consumption.

In addition, sewage and waste-disposal facilities must be inspected to make certain that they do not become breeding places for rodents and insects. Sanitarians are responsible for ensuring safe and sanitary conditions in hotels, motels, rooming and boarding houses, trailer parks, and swimming pools. They also run regular tests of the air to determine the amounts of radiation, carbon monoxide, and other dangerous chemicals or particles it contains.

As a sanitarian advances in his profession, his responsibilities increase. He will be expected to develop plans to improve the sanitary conditions in such establishments as hotels, hospitals, restaurants, and recreational facilities that are a part of his community. He may supervise other sanitarians and work with other people in his community to accomplish his objectives.

Diverse Roles Forecast for Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) - Atomic energy may play such diverse roles in the future as power for planetary grand tour and an artificial heart, Congress has been told.

The idea of implanting a tiny nuclear engine in the body to power an artificial heart is hypothetical, but worth looking into since heart disease kills some 750,000 Americans a year, says the director of the Atomic Energy Commission's isotopes development section.

E. Eugene Fowler estimates such heart research would take about four years and $5.5 million.

The commission's director of space nuclear systems, Milton Klein, in arguing for funding of the nuclear research on project Nerva, said atomic engines will be a must for deep space flight.

The testimony of both men before House appropriations subcommittees in May was released Tuesday.

The urgency of finding a practical power supply for an artificial heart, said Fowler, was demonstrated last year in Dr. Denton Cooley's effort to keep a patient alive in Houston, Tex.

The artificial heart Cooley used needed a power supply system the size of an office desk. Possibly, Fowler said, a nuclear engine weighing a few pounds could substitute, being implanted in the body.

As for space travel, Klein said, "We are moving into needs for very long life systems." A trip to Jupiter takes two years. A grand tour in the late 1970's when all the planets are in a favorable alignment would take seven to eleven years.

Klein said a desk-size Nerva atomic engine would produce as much power as Hoover Dam. Nerva would speed travel and make rescue of the vehicles possible, he said.

As for space versus domestic priorities, Klein said, "The real long-term solutions to the problems of poverty, which are real ... is to increase our ability to produce and do things better."

One vacancy, a high school librarian, exists.

Mary Ellen Setzler, of North Little Rock, has been employed as a kindergarten teacher, he said.

No, Gwendolyn, "white tie and tails" doesn't mean the gals are to come to the party in bunny club costumes.

Eye on '70 Elections, Nixon Patches Political Fences

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) President Nixon has begun putting the new gloss of updated management techniques on his political operations. But much valuable time has been lost and he may need immense good fortune to come out well in the 1970 elections.

No one can visit Republican National Committee headquarters today without encountering a host of eager new faces, freshly minted organizational charts, a flush of energy and high morale.

Already well-established in the White House itself, of course, is former South Carolina state chairman Harry Dent, with his paneled office in the East Wing symbolizing a belated bow to the political realities of the presidency.

Memoranda dealing with patronage matters and the thousand and one political problems that concern governors, mayors, state chairmen and others are arching across the short trajectory from White House to nearby committee offices and back again.

On a recent weekend at Airlie House in Warrenton, Va., committee officials were joined by representatives of the senatorial and congressional campaign committees to burnish the new party mechanisms and get ready for the day when all three groups would gather under one new roof near Capitol Hill.

Yet the nearly euphoric state which seems to be accompanying these changes cannot obscure the damage done in the first several months after Nixon was elected.

All aside from the endless irritation caused in many states by the President's unorthodox and erratic job-filling procedures, the patronage operation was largely wasted as a lever for providing potential early advantage to 1970 candidates for Congress and some key states offices.

Use of some available federal jobs to give candidates showcase identity can often avoid later bruising primary battles, since they may gain a commanding lead for nomination if they are otherwise suitable choices.

More than a few well-placed Republicans are tuning over what they consider the Nixon administration's senseless throw-away of this opportunity.

The President himself evidently did not wake up fully to this matter until he became angered at the special-election loss this spring of a vacated Republican U.S. House seat in Montana.

Bernie Schools Enrollment Up Area Students At Jonesboro

BERNIE--The Bernie schools opened Monday with an enrollment increase for the first time in several years.

High school has an increase of four students from last year, with 248 students enrolled. Class roll calls show 71 freshmen; 69 sophomores; 56 juniors; and 52 seniors.

Elementary school shows an increase of 30, with a total of 599 enrolled. The enrollment by grades is: 1st grade, 72; 2nd grade, 65; 3rd grade 69; 4th grade, 58; 5th grade, 64; 6th grade, 74; 7th grade 71; 8th grade, 57; Sp. education, 27; Kindergarten, 42.

School opened without a regular art teacher, however two qualified substitute teachers have been employed. The substitute teachers are: Mrs. Judy Perkins, who will teach high school art and some elementary art; and Mrs. Peggy Hockman of Malden will teach elementary art.

There were 580 meals served in the cafeteria the first day of school.

New Post Office For Marston

MARSTON--Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, announced that a contract has been awarded to build a new post office at Marston.

The building will be owned by the Richardson Gin, Inc., Main St., Marston, Mo. who will lease it to the Post Office Department for 5 years. It will be located at the South side of Main Street, approximately 200 yards West of Junction Main & Lewis Streets. Preliminary estimates indicate that the initial investments in the project will total approximately $18,000.

The one story building will be air conditioned and will offer more working room than the present building.

The new type is expected to be completed in about 90 days after the plans are approved.

BACKWARD GLANCES

A recent UPI dispatch described a clean-up campaign conducted recently in Sterling Heights, Michigan. The citizens of that Detroit suburb wanted a section of the Clinton River as a recreation area, but the waterway was a favorite dumping area for people too lazy to dispose of their trash and cast-off possessions in the prescribed way.

Government agencies dealing with river clean-up projects had no plans for the Clinton for at least five years. So the people of Sterling Heights decided to take matters into their own hands. Community work day was the result. The session was attended by about 1,500 volunteers of all ages, male and female.

The volunteers worked in flat-bottomed boats or waded into the water. They went on despite a rainstorm, and the result was a cleaner river for the good of all. It seems unlikely that those who took part in the actual work will ever be seen littering the Clinton River. It is now their river and they'll protect it for that reason.

Actually, the Clinton River project is news only in the context of modern society. A few generations back this type of undertaking was commonplace. They called it by different names - quilting bees, barn raisings, etc. These were community occasions. They were social gatherings designed to benefit the community. Men and women were brought closer by the cooperative atmosphere, which made the work easier, even fun.

Think back to some of the group-work sessions of your own past and recall some of the fun you had. Did you ever decorate a gym for a school dance? Or decorate cars for a wedding motorcade? Did you ever take part in a group painting session at some YMCA or orphanage or church? Try expanding on these themes. You'll be a better person and you'll live in a better community. And it will truly be your community.

More and more, workers are becoming aware that compulsory union membership is evil which can harm every working man and woman in the country - whether they belong to a union or not.

More and more, they are realizing that compulsory union membership is inconsistent with the American way.

The most expensive thing to take for an illness is free advice.

After a man has passed 70, and has accumulated a little money, thypubc demands that he get the written consent of every relative he had, no matter how remote, before he marries, should he decide to wed at that late stage of life. If he has no money, their consent is not necessary.

The following dialogue from a young accountant is recorded not because it is unusual, but because it is typical:

"I could afford and would probably buy new carpeting and furniture for my house, landscaping of my yard, a third bathroom, a couple of new suits, a second automobile, fishing gear, an automatic dishwasher."

"My wife could double the list. They are things we really need. In fact, we really can't afford to do without some of them. But we have put them off mainly because no one has really tried to sell them to us. Our local retailers seem to assume that people like me are the same consumers we were ten years ago."

This young professional man expects some personal attention to his needs before he fully uses his buying power. Ordinarily, local merchants would be anxious to give him, and hundreds like him in every community, plenty of attention if they knew of the situation. What is lacking is a first point of contact.

Yet, the local merchant does have an ideal place to make contact with young, affluent, educated leaders. The very nature of their status in the community dictates thorough readership of the local newspaper.

Advertising which recognizes the existence of the prosperous procrastinators and brings serious inquiries can be the first step toward releasing thousands of idle dollars into the local economy.

Third Strike. At Camp Pickett, Va., after calling some bad ones as umpire in a post softball game, Private Noel Fuquay was escorted from the field by a protective squad of sergeants, three days later got his discharge from the Army for poor eyesight.

Ask any 10-year-old boy what a sheriff does and he'll probably say: "He rides a horse and shoots outlaws."

Maybe so, on television. But, nowadays sheriffs' posses ride in automobiles and sheriffs are as concerned with protecting their motoring constituents as they are in pursuing outlaws.

Demonstrating concern over modern traffic problems, the National Sheriffs Association some years ago endorsed a type of "safety" licensed plate that casts a bright warning glow for up to 2,000 feet by light reflection from auto headlights.

Said Sheriff Malcolm McLeod of Lumberton, N. C., the Association's president at that time: "We think they are an excellent law enforcement and safety aid. We wish they were used in every state."

A report by the Maine State Police points out that the annual number of nighttime collisions with parked cars was reduced by 58 per cent during the years 1950 to 1963, compared with the five-year period before 1950, when that state began using such tags.

M-re recently, the University of North Carolina announced the results of a study concluded last year, which showed that reflective license plates more than pay for themselves in decreased nighttime accident costs. And at their last national convention, the Veterans of Foreign Wars passed a unanimous resolution favoring the use of

"safety" plates on all vehicles in the country.

With the influence of the nation's sheriffs and such organizations as the National Safety Council and the V.F.W. behind them, reflective license plates are becoming standard issue in more and more states (Now 33, with others considering adoption).

Sheriffs still shoot outlaws, sometimes, and they occasionally ride horses. But these days they're on the track of another dangerous hombre - night-driving highway hazards.

Positive people always think that anyone who disagrees with them is prejudiced.

The woman in the kitchen is in a key spot to help reduce her family's risk of heart disease by adopting a fat-controlled, low cholesterol diet, says Missouri Heart Association.

Always try to do your best; sometimes even that is not very good.

The following passage, taken out of Burgh's Political Disquisitions, (vol. 3d, p. 322, Ec.) may gratify some of your readers, and by instructive to others, if you will give it a place in your useful paper.

It is an unsumountable argument against slavery, that nature, in every human being, revolts against it, when it comes to touch himself. We wonder to read of dastardly peoples, and crafty priests, standing up for the divine right of tyrants, as if they forgot that by and by themselves may come to be sufferers. But the partisans of tyranny keep always a mental reservation in their own favor. They are for enslaving all mankind, and intend that themselves shall be little tyrants under the great one.

There is always a somewhat, where human nature, even in the most feeble spirits, vindicates to itself its unalienable right. The following private anecdote, told me by one who knew the parties concerned, illustrates this.

In the mad times of (illegible word), when many seemed willing to go all lengths in obedience to authority, a man of sense took some pains to give a lady, a friend of his, juster notions than she had of the limits of obedience. 'Suppose,' says he, 'Madam, that the king should seize, by a quo warranto, your husband's estate, and make him, and yourself, and children, beggars; would you think resistance unlawful?' 'I should have much cause of complaint,' says the lady; 'but, (raising her pretty eyes to heaven) we must not resist the Lord's anointed.' 'But, Madam, I will put a harder case still. Suppose the king should force your ladyship . . . , don't you think your husband might fully promote an (illegible word) for extirpating such a brutish Tarquin?' The lady, with downcast eyes, and a countenance covered with a rosy blush, answered: 'The case you now put, Sir, is undoubtedly harder than the former. But, as the whole sin should be the king's and king's answerable to God only, I do, not think my husband could lawfully do anything towards vindicating his honor by violence.' The gentleman knowing, that the lady was, as all the votaries of passive obedience, staunch for the established church, and bitter, if a lady can be bitter, against the dissenters, resolved to put to her one question farther, which he did as follows: 'Give me leave, Madam,' says he, 'to ask you once more: Suppose the king should order your ladyship to go to meeting? (sic) 'What,' (says she, rising in a lovely passion, which enlivened every feature, with eyes sparkling lips quivering, and bosom heaving) 'me to a wicked (illegible word) presbyterian meeting!' (These opprobrious words she had learned from the parson of the parish) 'I would kill him,' (says she, clenching her little, weak soft hand, which made the gentleman hope he should have the pleasure of a box on the ear, of which however he was disappointed) . . .

If a weak delicate woman could be thus roused in defense of what she called her religious liberty, surely a man ought to suffer (manly ruination) as soon as to yield himself a voluntary slave.

NEW YORK (AP) - Are you afraid you'll have nothing to do but sit and twiddle your thumbs when you retire?

Tush and twiddle! A retired man is not like a workhorse put out to pasture and confined by fence bars. He is free of mind and at last has the time, and one hopes the energy, to try and put into effect some of the daydreams and phantasies that have entertained him through the years.

For example, here's a list of possibilities that would keep him from getting rusty:

Dig for buried treasure. Sail the Spanish Main. Learn to speak Tagalog. Bridge the generation gap by adopting a teen-ager. Invent a new card game or a new-flavored cough drop.

Make a collection of cobwebs, cigar wrappers or old credit cards.

Become a landlord for fun and profit.

Take lessons on the tambourine or an African jungle drum.

Enlist as an unpaid spy for the CIA.

Train a falcon to dive bomb unsuspecting old women and fly off with their handbags. That'll make you a pioneer in aerial mugging, a hitherto overlooked form of crime.

Wear spats, and start a new clothing fad.

Cap a climax. Open a new era.

Develop a computer that will translate government gobbledygook into modern English folk songs, so it can be sung as well as read.

End campus riots by leading a revival of interest among college students in the old New England custom of bundling--and let them practice it in classrooms.

Publish a $1 guidebook listing all the pubs and bars in America in which the third drink is still served on the house. It shouldn't run to more than two pares, triple spaced.

Discover a nostrum beside old age that will put sex in its proper perspective.

If none of these activities entice you out of the "retirement blues," maybe it's because you've become too dull for this zestful world. In that case, perhaps you could solve your woes by persuading a cannibal to invite you for lunch during National Brotherhood Week.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE
A government Task Force has concluded a study which purports to show that the nation's elderly people could have saved millions of dollars in 1966 if doctors had prescribed drugs by generic instead of brand name. As a spokesman for the prescription drug industry points out, the alleged saving . . . is based on the unproven assumption that prescriptions written by generic name cost substantially less. . . . Wholly aside from the comparative costs of generic versus brand name drugs is the confusing questions to laymen of just what the difference is between the two and why one may be of higher quality than the other. A generic product is known merely by the scientific names of the active ingredient it contains. A brand name drug product carries the trademark name of the producing manufacturer.

Mrs. Sue Boe, a consumer information specialist for the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association, has defined the quality difference between brand names and generic names and drugs in terms of a chocolate cake. All chocolate cakes contain chocolate, but they are most decidedly all not of the same quality. Why? In Mrs. Boe's words, "Well . . . perhaps the eggs one woman used weren't fresh, or she substituted an inferior oleo for the butter Maybe she just happened to be a bad cake baker! . . . (If you think making a cake is complicated, you should see the recipes for drugs!)

A comparison: have you ever tried to distribute evenly one teaspoon of baking powder in 145,000 pounds of flour?" That, in simple words, is the story of generic versus brand name drugs. It is hard to see how anyone can claim the elderly are being robbed when their doctors prescribe brand name medications from a research-oriented manufacturer with a reputation to uphold.

At Last, Better Fortune
For Southern Neighbors
Economic news frequently makes dismal reading, almost invariably so when it deals with the state of the nations to the south of us.

With all too few exceptions, the Latins have long been the perennially sick men of the hemisphere economically and, as a result, the object of U.S. concern and attempted cures ranging from economic spinoffs of Franklin D. Roosevelt's Good Neighbor policy to John F. Kennedy's Alliance for Progress. None, however, have seemed to do much more than chip away at the monumental problems of an under-developed continent apparently incapable of organizing itself for development.

Now, for a change, an encouraging word is heard. The latest report of the Inter-American Committee on the Alliance for Progress sums up 1968 as a relatively good year. Preliminary estimates covering 17 Latin nations show over-all gross product up 5.4 per cent per capita income up 2.5 per cent, exports up 4.5 per cent and industrial output up a solid 8 per cent.

Thirteen countries shared in the gains, with Argentina, Brazil and Mexico in the lead. Only four -- Ecuador, Paraguay, Panama and Peru -- registered declines.

There are still weak points -- poor showings in agriculture and continuing runaway population growth. But the report comes as a modest and needed shot in the arm for the Alliance which, after its launching with such high hopes, had seemed to bog down like its predecessors.

The 1968 gains are only a small step along the road Latin America must travel to achieve efficient economies capable of supporting the world's fastest growing populations at something safely above the misery levels. But every little bit helps. And if this area of vast but still scarcely tapped natural and human resources can at last be brought into the community of developed nations, it will be an immense step forward not only for the hemisphere but for the entire world as well.

Marriage is like a railroad sign. You see a lovely girl and stop. Then you look. And after you're married you listen.

The handsome young man walked into a drug store that was operated by two old maids and said, rather sheepishly, "Every time that I see a woman, I want to hug and kiss her and make passionate love. What can you give me?"

The one old maid leaned over to the other old maid for a brief consultation and then replied, "My sister and I will give you five hundred dollars and the drug store!"

Don't be too sure about this prosperity they say we are enjoying. Just remember when the hog's the fattest, that's when it goes to the butcher.

Seat Belts Pay Off
A Cleveland, Ohio, judge is doing his bit to promote traffic safety. Municipal Court Judge Lloyd O. Brown is not only penalizing speeders, he's rewarding them -- if they are found wearing seat belts at the time of the violation.

Cleveland police have begun noting on traffic citations when seat belts are in use. A heavy-footed salesman was the first beneficiary of the new policy.

The judge fined him $20 and costs for speeding on the city's shoreway, but suspended $5 of the fine because he had his seat belt buckled.

This is one city where it pays to wear your seat belt, in more ways than one.

H.L. Hunt Says

PROGRESS UNDER COMMUNISM?

Supporters of our personal enterprise system are often asked why Russia has been able to make such great progress during the past fifty years, if communism is much an evil system. The belief that the Russians are much better off under communism has been held by many people, but it is completely false.

The Soviet Union has advanced technologically, but nearly all of this advancement has gone into the production of armaments and into the Soviet space program. Thus the communists are able to fight freedom throughout the world, but the people themselves are not helped.

Consumer goods are extremely scarce in communist Russia. People must wait in line for hours just to buy a new coat or a pair of shoes. There are endless waiting lists for larger items, such as automobiles. The average Russian's standard of living is only slightly better, if any, than in 1917.

The state-owned economy is often unable to supply basic necessities to the people. Several famines have occurred since the Bolsheviks took over. Most recently, there was a severe food shortage in 1963. Only shipments of grain from the free world kept this scarcity from being disastrous. Before communism, the people could own their own land and grow enough food to meet their own needs.

True progress should be measured in terms of the individual's opportunity to make a better life for himself. In the Soviet Union, where the state determines the disposition of each person's life, this opportunity is totally lacking. No one progresses under slavery except the slavemasters. HLH

Inside Labor

Mafia Goes International
Inside Story of Cosa Nostra Attempt to Invade Britain
London -- With its imagination La Cosa Nostra should go public -- issue securities instead of stealing them. It has such a fine eye for business methods, market analysis and foreign trade. Not too long ago, for example, it decided to go international. It had surveyed Britain. It had discovered that there were 1,000 gambling clubs and just one British Mafia outpost.

And the Tommy (Three Finger Brown) Luchese "family" decided to take over.

This story never has been told but it should be on the record. It saved the British much grief. And it reveals what puny weapons the moon-walking American government must use in its eternal struggle against the criminal syndicate which now sees the entire world as its pearl-studded oyster.

We should start in Berkeley Square where the nightgales used to sing, the crap tables groaned, the dice rolled and the roulette wheels spun amid the clicking of pound note chips. Back in January 1967, an American Cosa Nostra "bottom" man (one of the troops) by name of Tommy Mancuso, along with an international mystery man called Herbert Itkin, visited the Colony Club.

Mancuso, from New York, had money, muscle and a low brow. He was cast for the part of a brutal slugger who has worked for the Luchese mob, along with such intimates of Jimmy Hoffa as Johnny Dio and Tony Ducks Corallo. This syndicate reaches from the posh coasts of Long Island into Eastern Pennsylvania and even on to the finest suburbs of Detroit.

Mancuso and Itkin, a strange chap informing for the FBI and the CIA these days, wanted to buy in. They also offered protection for sale. None of this amateurish young tough stuff from Midland England and Scotland, but real hard, brass-knuckle, American Mafia muscle to push out the British and gentlemen investors.

Mancuso quickly made the rounds. Along the river. Up into castle country. Into the clubs, heavily chandeliered.

His contact was a fellow known as Al Dimu (phonetically spelled). He had some 40 or 50 lads of his own. But with common good sense he deferred to the lethal Mancuso.

Well, yes, Virginia, there is a Scotland Yard. Mancuso, who had seen a movie or two, thought those fine chaps with the rolled umbrellas and pipes tightly clenched by grinding teeth of British-looking fellows coming out of that block-long, low building, halfway between Buckingham Palace and Parliament Square, were central casting office actors.

Well, they are fine detectives. FBI. They knew Tommy Mancuso was there all along. They just let him hang himself that's all. Actually he arrived in Britain, a confidential report says, on Jan. 18, 1967 with Itkin and Tony Ducks -- a friend of American judges, financiers, political leaders and sundry teamsters officials.

At the advice of Scotland Yard, British immigration authorities simply put the acrid Cosa Nostra underboss, Tony Ducks back on the next plane to the U.S. Herber Itkin voluntarily returned with Ducks. Mancuso stayed on. Itkin shuttled back to Britain and made the rounds with Mancuso during this first effort to plant the Cosa Nostra in the British Isles.

When Mancuso returned to the U.S. via the John F. Kennedy International Airport he was arrested. Not, my friends, for trying to move the Cosa Nostra across international borders. Not for attempting to terrorize Britishclub owners into buying his protection. And not for attempting to frighten them into "selling" him part interest in Britain's gaming rooms.

It is a mark of the rigidity, perhaps stupidity is the word, of America's laws that Mancuso was arrested for violating Title 18 U.S. Code Section 1407. This means that this man who is listed by the Justice Dept. as a "trustee" soldier in the Luchese family was picked up for failing to inform the U.S. Customs office that he as a previous narcotics offender, was leaving and then re-entering the U.S. These are misdemeanors.

It carries a penalty of one year -- and with good behavior the muscle man, even if found guilty, could be out in nine months.

But nine months is better than nothing. So after him went 38-year-old Fordham graduate, special U.S. Attorney Daniel P. Hollman, then head of the Justice Dept.'s Brooklyn coordinated anti-organized crime strike force of the type first lauded in Buffalo, N.Y.

It took over two years. But Mr. Hollman, now head of President Nixon's extraordinary national-state-local coordinated anticrime council in New York, got Mancuso, and Mancuso, some weeks ago, got one year. This prison sentence will roll off him like whiskey droplets off a shot glass.

So for attempting to open the United Kingdom to the type of brutality and corruption we Mafia waters expose regularly, Tommy Mancuso, front for politically powerful Tony Ducks Corallo, got nothing.

To punish him, he powerful U.S. government had to find, and was lucky that Dan Hollman did, some obscure section of the penal code.

How different here in Britain. When British mob leaders such as the Kray brothers and the Richardson gang got tough and bloody, the English courts simply put them on trial. No judge, no politician could be reached. And the thugs were jailed. For 30 to 40 years no less.

This Anglo-Saxon law works splendidly -- if it isn't corrupted. When will we learn in the good old U.S.A.?

Washington - Merry - Go - Round

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON--The Olive Branch that President Nixon has offered to Russia is showing signs of wilt. Soviet leaders have been careful not to spurn the drooping peace sprig, but neither have they grasped it.

The diplomats of both countries still pay lip service to Soviet-American cooperation. They continue to meet informally and to sound out one another about selling our differences.

In Bucharest earlier this month, President Nixon told Soviet Ambassador Alexander Basov: "I hope my next journey will be to Moscow."

But the President has received no invitation to Moscow, and the Kremlin has shown no eagerness to open negotiations.

Party boss Leonid Brezhnev, for example, sent written assurances to Egypt's President Nasser that Russia would be faithful to the Arab cause at the same time that Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko talked to Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco in Moscow about restraining the Arabs and easing the Middle East crisis.

The Kremlin was held back, too, from the disarmament table where Russian and American negotiators were supposed to talk about controlling strategic arms. Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin has also extended his stay in Moscow. This has delayed any resumption of the friendly, informal exchanges between the Soviet Ambassador and Secretary of State Bill Rogers.

Sovier Ardor for President Nixon has been cooled by two American moves:

1. Soviet leaders were annoyed with Nixon for visiting Romania at a time when the Kremlin is trying to tighten its hold on the satellites.

The annoyance changed to alark when Nixon received the warmest welcome ever accorded a foreign visitor since the communist takeover. This was a signal to all satellite leaders that they could gain popularity with their people by taking a more pro-American line. To dampen the effect of the Nixon visit, the Kremlin sent Konstantin Katusev, a master of the veiled threat, to Bucharest to attend the Romanian party congress. This same Katusev was a key figure in the Soviet crackdown on Czechoslovakia when Czech leaders became too independent.

In two long huddles with Romanian leader Nicolae Ceausescu, Katusev warned him against any more direct dealings with the United States.

2. The Kremlin was perturbed over President Nixon's friendly overtures to Peking at the same time that Russians and Chinese were clashing along the Sinking border. No problem is more sensitive inside the Kremlin right now than the Chinese question. The American gestures to Red China, therefore, are considered unfriendly to Russia. Soviet leaders are understandably nervous over the possibility that China and the U.S. some day might join forces against Russia.

On the government level, the Soviets have been careful not to show any outward hostility toward the U.S. such government leaders as Premier Alexei Kosygin and Foreign Minister Gromyko have continued to encourage friendly relations with the United States.

But the party bosses, who manipulate the strings, haven't attempted to disguise their disapproval of the U.S. Brezhnev, for instance, denounced the U.S. at the same time that Kosygin has expressed friendship.

Some Kremlinologists believe this indicates a split in the Soviet leadership. Others think it is a deliberate, two-faced policy--the official kface turned toward the outside world, the party face toward the inner communist world.

-Secrecy and Censorship-

In disregard of President Nixon's open-administration policy, food and drug commissioner Herbert Ley, Jr., has imposed a subtle censorship upon his subordinates.

He has ordered them to report all "policy conversations with reporters to Joshua B.

Zatman, the unofficial censor, who is supposed to determine whether the conversations "might have an impact on the department's operations."

The effect is to prohibit FDA officials from talking to reporters about anything that doesn't have Ley's approval.

The new order went out this month to "all assistant and associate commissioners, district directors and division directors" in the form of a private memo on the subject: "Unauthorized release of information."

"To help keep top management informed of new developments involving not only FDA but the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Ley instructed, "I am requesting that you report all policy conversations with communications media representatives to Mr. Joshua B. Zatman."

"Mr. Zatman will then determine whether the conservation involves information which might have an impact on the Department's operations. If he feels such impact is in prospect, he will inform Mr. Thomas F. Williams, Director of Public Affairs."

"I would appreciate your circulating these instructions to members of your staff."

Congressional Outlook--
Labor Day to a pile of unfinished legislation. However, there is nothing like a few days at home, listening to the complaints of Constituents, to stir Congressmen into activity.

Of all the complaints, the home folks are still most concerned about crime. Therefore, Congress can be expected to rush through a crime bill which will give the Federal Government more authority to crack down on organized crime.

The Parent-Teacher associations, decency leagues and ladies' auxiliaries are also aroused over sex movies, magazines and mail. Congress will respond dutifully by voting new restrictions on pornography and obscenity.

Homosexual Needs To Know Deferment Rules

Dear Ann Landers: I am a homosexual who is due to be drafted soon. I have been told that if I tell the truth about myself I will be rejected.

What I need to know is this: How secret are those records? Is it possible the information can be used against me later in life? I have managed to keep my homosexuality well concealed. Even my parents are unaware of it. Will they be informed if I am rejected on these grounds? Please help me. — Double Lifer

Dear D.: In order to obtain a 1-Y or 4-F classification you need a letter of certification from a physician or a psychologist or a psychiatrist stating that you are a homosexual.

This letter of certification becomes part of your permanent history and is available to many government agencies. Moreover, a future employer may ask for permission to see the file and your refusal to produce it could be a red flag.

See a draft counselor and discuss your problem with him. Perhaps you are eligible for deferment on grounds less complicated.

Dear Ann Landers: Just a doggone minute, please. Your statement that it's a federal offense to open someone's else's mail is a phony.

I am Chairman of the Missouri Council on Family Law. For the past eight years divorced men have been screaming their heads off about in-laws who intercept child-support checks addressed to their ex-wives. We've also heard a lot of yelling about children who intercept social security and welfare checks intended for elderly parents.

Yes, there's a federal law, but we have yet to get even one conviction. The best we can get is a light rap now and then when somebody burns a check or forges a signature. If you can tell us how to make this federal law stick you will be helping a great many people. I am sick and tired of hearing that "federal jurisdiction ends the minute the letter hits the mailbox of the person to whom the letter is addressed." — E.A. of St. Louis slight variation.

My attorneys tell me that so long as the letter is in the mailbox, the person to whom it is addressed can invoke the law. But here's the hooker: When the letter is taken out of the mailbox and tossed on the kitchen table, it is no longer under the protection of the postal authorities.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm still laughing about the meter reader who turned around and looked into the eyes of the woman who was doing her laundry stark naked, except for her son's football helmet.

If he had been any kind of gentlemen, Ann, he would have bowed courteously and said, "Excuse me, sir."

Pass the word for next time, please. — Windy City.

DAOEC Meeting

Held In Bell City

BELL CITY — Mrs. Mona Bloomfield, A. O. C. Director, and James Jones, program director, both from the D.A.O.E.C. office, Portageville, spoke at the Grayridge-Bell City Centers Advisory Boards meeting Tuesday, in the Bell City center building.

Fourteen were present. Mrs. Bloomfield gave a report of the meeting in Kansas City. She reported this area has one of the best administered programs in the 11 regions of Missouri. The co-ordination is sound, but the community involvement is weak. The needs are for self-help, and more work with lower income people, who do not have enough interest to attend the meetings, she said.

Jones presented, for the boards approval, the proposed program for the coming year. The grant was approved, with the stipulation that each center have equal personnel.

In addition to the speakers, those in attendance were: Mrs. Joan Peters, co-ordinator of the Grayridge center, Paul H. Barks, co-ordinator of the Bell City center, Mrs. Grace Walker, E. O. D. developer of Stoddard and Scott counties; Mrs. Madia Green, E.O.D. counselor of Stoddard county; Jay Rankins, Norris Griffin, and Cooper Washington, board members of the Grayridge center; Bill O'Heren, DAOEC board member; C. G. Lemmons, Max Bollinger, Darnell Brown and the Rev. John Maynard, all board members from the Bell City center.

What do you wear in the rain? Something old and drab? That same raincoat you've been wearing for the last 10 years? Galoshes over your shoes? If your rainy days have been synonymous with no-fashion days, it is any wonder that you've been suffering the rainy day blues.

It's easy to develop a great rainy day look. Never before have there been so many intriguing possibilities: maxicoats over minidresses, pants suits with swash-buckling hats, "wet look" vinyls to gleam their way through the darkest day, pretend furs, leggy boots, and a whole range of colors and styles in umbrellas.

Today's rainwear is designed to look just as appropriate in the light of the sun or by moonlight as it does under cloudfurths. In fact that's the message behind this season's raincoats: they're all-purpose coats to be worn over all types of clothes from sun up till moon down.

Exotic colors, jasmine red, heather, moonbeam yellow add drama to rainproof, water-repellent coats of stark simplicity. Florals and quilted coats double as evening wraps. The more adventurous can choose from several over-all fake fur styles, including tiger, leopard and a wild Dalmatian print.

Visible for 60 miles, the faces on Mount Rushmore are 60 feet high. Lincoln's nose is longer than the entire face of Egypt's Sphinx. If carved full figure, he would stand 465 feet tall.

The Gospel Visitor

By: Reudus M. Baugher

In dealing with the lost, there are different classes of individuals. We have already considered some of these, now, let us consider the person who seems anxious to be saved and knows how, but has difficulties. I believe these would be saved, if convinced that the obstacles, whether imaginary or real can be overcome. We hear: (1) "I am too great a sinner." But remember, Paul said, "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief." (1 Tim. 1:15) And also, "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." (Rom. 5:8) Jesus said, "The Son of man is come to seek and save that which was lost." (Luke 19:10) And we also hear, (2) "I can't hold out, or I'm afraid of failure." Of course a person could backslide and fail if he choose to, but the point is he doesn't have to. God says, "Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as you have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee." (Heb. 13:5) "Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time." (1 Pet. 1:5) "Keep yourselves in the love of God... Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling..." (Jude 21, 24) Another says, (3) "I am too weak." These need to know, "There hath no temptation taken you but such as is common to man: but God is faithful, who will not suffer you to be tempted above that you are able; but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that ye may be able to bear it." (1 Cor. 10:13) Knowing this have the same confidence as Paul had, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." (Phil. 4:13) But we hear: (4) "I will be persecuted if I become a Christian." We should never tell anyone that they won't be persecuted, but we can show from the scriptures that persecution is the only path to eternal glory. Paul said in (2 Tim. 3:12) "All that live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution." Christ said, "Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." (Matt. 5:10-12) We learn that suffering of present is not worthy to be compared with what the Christian expects. (Rom. 8:18) "For our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory." It is a privilege to be persecuted, read Acts 5:41; 1 Pet. 2:20. And there is victory in persecution. (Heb. 12:3) "But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." (1 Cor. 15:57) (To be continued)

Buds Eliminate Cooney From City Tourney

By DALE A. LEWIS

The second team was eliminated from the City Fastpitch Softball Tournament last night as Cooney Equipment lost to Budweiser 15 to 2. Presley Travel Trailers was the first to go, losing to the Bank of Sikeston 3 to 2 Wednesday night at City Park.

Budweiser used a 15-hit attack in routing Cooney, batting around the line-up the first two innings for six of those hits good for nine runs. Dick Schuereberg drove home five runs in the contest with two singles and a solo homer, his first of the season. Fred Steward hit the circuit driving in four runs with a single, a double, a triple, and a two-run homer. Charley Gardner pickup up three RBIs on a single and a sacrifice. Ron Borders, single, J. P. Schuerffius' double, and Sonny Wyatt's single accounted for the other Budweiser runs. J. P. Schuerffius pitched a three-hitter, gaining Budweiser its first victory in the tournament after they lost their opener to First National 6 to 3 Tuesday night.

Cooney Equipment took a very brief 1 to 0 lead in the top of the first, when Danny Lape tripled to right and then came in to score on a sacrifice fly by Mike Pearson. Cooney scored its only other run of the contest in the sixth on a single by Randy Walker, a walk to Danny Spears, a passed ball, and a double steal.

In the nightcap, First National, with a four-run rally in the third, edged Barkett's Big Star 6 to 4 to remain undefeated in the tournament along with Sikeston Light and Water.

Barkett's jumped into a 1 to 0 lead in the first inning when John Chesser singled, went to third on Bill Merick's double, and then scored on a wild pitch. First National tied it up in the second on Terry Comstock's double a walk to Lee Shell, and a throwing error on an attempted steal. Barkett's came back in the top of the third to take a 2 to 1 lead when John Chesser reached on an error, then scored on Jerry Flunk's triple to right center. First National took the lead for good in the bottom of the inning with a four-run uprising. Dean Riley reached on an error and scored when Luke Black sent a triple into the leftfield corner. Pete Ledbetter doubled home another run, then scored himself on Terry Comstock's single. After Lee Shell grounded out,

Bob Dyer brought home Comstock with a single, before Donnie White bounced out to end the inning. Barkett's wasn't down and out yet, though. A two-run fourth brought them to within one run of First National at 5 to 4, both runs scoring without the benefit of a base-hit. Two errors, a hit batsman, and two ground outs shoved the runs across. First National's Dean Riley then pitched scoreless ball the last three innings to preserve the victory. First National picked up an insurance run in the fifth when Terry Comstock reached on an error, advanced to second on a wild pitch, then scored on Lee Shell's double to left.

With Labor Day coming up, the softballers take a four-day holiday from the tournament until next Tuesday. Action resumes that night with the Bank of Sikeston hosting Sikeston Motors in the 7 p.m. game, and Budweiser greeting Barkett's Big Star in the 8:30 nightcap.

Avid softball fans were treated to a rare twin-treat of pitching duels Wednesday night at City Park as action continued in the Fastpitch Softball Tournament.

Bank of Sikeston's Bud Bane and Presley Trailers' Don Wisdom matched five-hit pitching in the first game with the Bankers finally coming out on top 3 to 2. A two-run homer by the Bank's Jim Burden decided the contest in the fifth, after Presley Trailers had taken a 2 to 1 lead in the second on a towering two-run homer by Buck Presley. The Bank scored its other run in the first when Jim Burden singled and went to second on an error. Burden moved to third on a groundout by Jerry Sherry, then scored on a sacrifice fly off the bat of Larry Burden.

Presley Trailers threatened to make a different ballgame out of it in the final frame after two were out. Bob Blair then drew a Base-on-Balls, bringing up the lead-off batter, Jim Shuffitt. With the count 1 strike and 1 ball, Shuffitt lifted a towering flyball into leftfield. With his back to the fence, the Bank's Larry Harshberger hauled in the "almost" home-run for the final out.

Last night's loss was Presley's second in the double-elimination

Tournament, gaining them the dubious distinction of being the first team to be eliminated.

Sikeston Light & Water remained undefeated in the tournament, while Sikeston Motor suffered its first loss to go with one victory.

In case you missed Tuesday night's games, First National opened their tournament play with a 6 to 3 win over Budweiser, while Cooney Equipment dropped an 8 to 4 contest to Barkett's Big Star.

Capacity Crowd To View Governor's Cup Battle

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Governor's Cup, or a Missouri mule?

The cup is the trophy, the mule the booby prize and the outcome of tonight's pre-season exhibition football game between the Kansas City Chiefs and the St. Louis Cardinals determines who gets what.

On or, the Chiefs, of the American Football League seem to be in line for the Governor's Cup for the second straight year. The Cardinals of the National Football League started strongly, defeating the world champion New York Jets and Pittsburgh, but they stumbled badly last week and took a 41-13 shelling at the hands of Minnesota.

The Chiefs, getting spectacular play from quarterback Len Dawson, meanwhile have rolled to four straight pre-season victories, including last week's 42-14 drubbing of the NFL Los Angeles Rams.

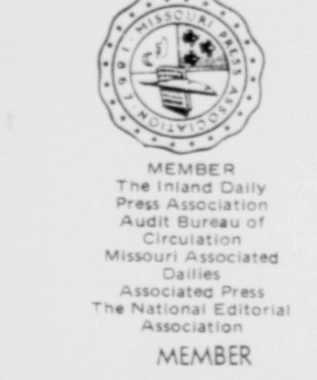

"I don't know how we'll fare," said Coach Charley Winner of the Cards. "You know what they say, a football can take funny bounces."

But the Kansas City offense wasn't all Winner had to worry about. The Chiefs also have a stingy defensive unit.

"They have three fine linebackers in Bobby Bell, Willie Lanier and Dick Lynch," Winner said.

Only standing room tickets are available and the 50,000 spectators will have a chance to watch two of the most sought-after rookie defensive stars in action — cornerbacks Roger Wehrli of the Cards and Jim Marsalis of the Chiefs. Each was the first draft choice of his team. Marsalis starred at Tennessee A & I and Wehrli at the University of Missouri.

Once again, the Cards quarterback will be Charley Johnson, who has had his ups and downs trying to regain his pre-Army form. Jim Hart, the regular quarterback while Johnson was in service, is nursing a badly jammed right index finger.

SEMO State Looks Toward MIAA Title In Rebuilding Year

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Southeast Missouri State College head coach Tom Thrower calls 1969 a rebuilding year, yet at the same time he believes the Indians have a good crack at their third consecutive MIAA championship.

"Anytime you lose 13 starters, it's got to be a rebuilding year," explains Thrower. But he adds, "We think we'll be in the running for the conference title right down to the final game. Warrensburg is the team to beat in the conference, we feel."

The Indians, who won't meet Warrensburg's Central Missouri State College until Nov. 15, reported to camp Tuesday. Eighty-five freshmen, including 23 lettermen, are in the fold at the moment. Forty-one of them are freshmen hopefuls and 44 are upperclassmen and junior college transfers.

Thrower said the team will work out without pads twice a day through Friday. The players will "meet the press" at 10 Saturday morning (Aug. 30) and be given the remainder of the weekend off. They will put on the pads for the first time Monday. The two-a-day workouts will continue through Sept. 9.

According to the coach, no big surprises developed on the opening day of camp. All who were expected to report did so.

"We've got a lot of depth," he commented, "but are inexperienced. We're a little short on tackles, but our real problem is in the secondary. We have a lot of good, young defensive backs coming up, but not many will be ready to play this season."

Thrower said the only returning defensive back with any experience is John Bean, a 160-pound sophomore from St. Louis.

Of the 13 starters not returning to the Indians, seven played on offense and six on defense. Among the departures are St. Louisans Walt Smallwood and John Diepenbrock, called by Thrower "the two best backs in the MIAA last season."

On the other hand, the Indians do have an experienced quarterback returning in Greg Schroeder, a 180-pound senior from St. Louis, and a weathered fullback in Bruce Hoffman, a 200-pound fullback from Park Forest, Ill.

Southeast Missouri

opens its season at home on Sept. 20 against Delta State College of Cleveland, Miss. This will be followed by non-conference games with Jacksonville, Ala., State University, Evansville, Ind., University, and Murray, Ky., State University.

"We'll be doing a lot of experimenting between now and the first game," Thrower said, "and if we can win two of the first four, we'll be a success."

Aaron Gains 25; Huntz 545 Back

"Never look back," says Satchel Paige, "something or somebody may be gaining on you."

It's a problem Hank Aaron doesn't have. He can peek back all he wants because he only guy doing any gaining is Henry himself.

The Atlanta slugger unloaded two more home runs Thursday night, including the 12th grand slam of his career, leading the Braves to an 8-2 romp over Pittsburgh. The two homers gave him 36 this year and 546 for his career—third on the alltime list behind Babe Ruth's 714 and Willie Mays' 598.

Aaron has gained 25 homers on Mays this season. Willie started the year 77 ahead of Henry, 520 to 510 but now the margin is down to 52.

Aaron is 545 homers ahead of Steve Huntz, St. Louis' rookie infielder, who hit his first major league homer in the 10th inning to give the Cardinals a 2-1 decision over Houston.

In other National League games Thursday, San Francisco edged Philadelphia 4-3, Chicago dropped Cincinnati 3-1 and Montreal ripped Los Angeles 6, New York and San Diego were off.

In the American League, Boston outlasted Kansas City 9-4, Baltimore topped Seattle 4-3 in 11 innings and Detroit defeated Oakland 4-3 in 13 innings. The other teams were not scheduled.

Aaron got the Braves off in front quickly with a two-run homer in the first inning after Tony Gonzalez had walked.

Atlanta was leading 4-1 in the seventh and loaded the bases on singles by George Stone and Felix Millan and an error. Aaron hit reliever Bruce Dal Canton's first pitch for the grand slam—giving him six RBIs for the night.

Stone gave up 11 hits before being relieved in the eighth inning but won his 11th game. Steve Blass, 12-8, took the loss.

Huntz' leadoff homer in the 10th inning beat Houston's Don Wilson for the Cardinals.

Wilson, seeking his 17th victory, had the Cards shut out on two hits going into the ninth. But Vada Pinson opened that inning with a single and Joe Torre singled off Denis Menke's chest, moving Pinson to third. Dave Ricketts' sacrifice fly rot the tying run home.

Then Huntz' homer won it for reliever Jim Grant, 7-10. Until he ninth, Wilson, 16-9, had protected an unearned run scored on Doug Rader's single in the first.

Ron Hunt's fourth hit of the game drove in pitcher Frank Linzy with San Francisco's winning run in the eighth inning and gave the Giants their eighth straight victory.

Linzy, 12-6, won his second game in as many days against the Phillies and started the Giants' winning rally with a single. He moved to second on a sacrifice and reached third on a passed ball before Hunt dropped his double off Johnny Briggs' glove for the winning run.

Deron Johnson and Rich Allen homered for the Phillies.

The Cubs halted a four-game slide by beating Cincinnati behind Ferguson Jenkins, 18-7.

Jenkins struck out eight to raise his National League leading total to 222 and Billy Williams and Jim Hickman supplied the offense with solo home runs. The victory increased Chicago's East Division lead over idle New York to 2 1/2 games.

Charleston Wins Own Tourney

Joe Hanschen received the win from the mound for Ilmo while Don Rodgers was endowed with his loss for East Prairie.

Cowboys Retain Texas Crown

The Dallas Cowboys still are the pro football champions of the great state of Texas.

Their reign was threatened for a spell by the Houston Oilers before 56,310 in the Astrodome Thursday night, but the NFL Cowboys rallied in the second half and pulled out a 14-11 exhibition victory over their AFL rivals.

COUNTY OF SCOTT
STATE OF MISSOURI
Plaintiff
vs.
HARVEY ALONZO POWELL
Defendant
Number 5759

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
OF NOTICE
The State of Missouri to defendant Harvey Alonzo Powell
You are hereby notified that an action has been commenced against you in the Circuit Court for the County of Scott, Missouri, the object and general nature of which is Action for Divorce.

The names of all the parties to said suit are stated above in the caption hereof and the name and address of the attorney for plaintiff is
Mr. Robert A. Dempster 215 North

TRUSTEE'S SALE
WHEREAS, Bob G. Hutchison and Gladys M. Hutchison, his wife, by a certain Deed of Trust dated the 9 day of September, 1968, and recorded in the office of the Recorder of Deeds for the County of Scott and the State of Missouri, in Book 162, Page 71, conveyed to the undersigned Trustee the following described real estate situated in the County of Scott and State of Missouri, to wit:

All of eighty feet off the West End of Lots Eleven and Twelve in Block Eleven (11) in the Town of Diehlstadt, Scott County, Missouri,
Which conveyance was made to the undersigned in trust to secure the payment of a certain Promissory
Note in said Deed specified; and

WHEREAS, on the 1st day of May,
1969, Earl L. Stevens and Rita S.
Stevens, his wife, assumed and agreed to pay the debt secured by said Deed of Trust; and

WHEREAS, said note is now past due and remains unpaid default having been made in the payment of said note;

NOW, THEREFORE, at the request of the legal holder of said
Note and in pursuance of the conditions of said Deed of Trust, the undersigned Trustee will sell the property above described as public venue to the highest bidder for cash at the Main front door of the Circuit Court House in the City of Benton,
Scott County, Missouri, on September 23, 1969, between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., for the purpose of satisfying said indebtedness and the cost of executing this trust.

John Malone's Plane Damaged in Fall

50 years ago
August 29, 1919
John Malone's airplane was considerably damaged, when it fell about 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at Steele, Mo. It was carrying three men, aviator Crockett, Henry Clay Lewis of Caruthersville and John Malone, when they either struck an air pocket or the control jammed.

The three men escaped without injury. Kemper, the youngest child and black from suspended animation. Dr. Rodes came and tried artificial respiration for some time before there was any sign of life. Examination showed a broken limb of the tree, by his mother, who had been told by Harrison Tanner that Kemper had fallen from a tree. When she afternoon as satisfactory. Seventeen-year-old Carolyn Wilkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wilkinson of Sikeston has been selected to represent the Cotton Carnival Committee of Henry Meldrum Post 114 of the American Legion in the Jackson Homecoming queen contest at Jackson tomorrow.

If You Were the Judge Personality Not Force in Legal Sense

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.
Mark was tall, dark and handsome. He was also aware of it. Consequently, he had no difficult building up a reputation as a Casanova. And while Peggy was aware of his reputation, she quickly forgot his past for the present as she sat with him under twinkling stars.
In fact, before she hardly knew what she was doing, she swooned into his great big strong arms. The next morning, as the expression goes, Peggy hated him, but she hated Mark even more. What's more, she sued him for assault and battery and alleged that he had compromised her, by force, the prior evening.
"The charge is absurd," was Mark's answer. "I didn't use any force. I didn't even flex a finger. I merely opened my arms and Peggy fell into them."
"He did use force," was Peggy's answer, "but not the usual kind. When he turned on his charms, which he did with malice aforethought. It was as compelling as if he held an H-bomb over my head. Simply, he was irresistible, knew it and used his personality to overpower me. It was calculated force."
IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Casanova Mark pay for bliss-kripping Peggy under a romantic sky?
This is how the judge ruled: NO! He held that an overpowering personality cannot be considered in the same category as force. A girl must develop her own defenses, concluded the judge, to such a hazard.

1,550 Salvation Army Workers in Storm Area

ST. LOUIS - Salvation Army forces are serving 40,000 Mississippi flood victims, as Salvationists across the country are collecting and sending clothing, bedding, and blankets to the disaster area.
Two truckloads of materials have been sent from Philadelphia, Pa., and Cincinnati, O. Forty Salvation Army canteens, equipped with water purifiers, are on duty, serving food. The canteens have been sent from Army centers throughout the Southeast. One hundred Salvation Army staff personnel are on duty.
Major Walter Kennedy advises that the Indianapolis, Indiana Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center is accepting clothing and a truckload of blankets already been sent to Gulfport, Mississippi. The Salvation Army is working out in the open air, as there is no shelter available. To meet the need for water the Salvation Army in Florida is shipping orange juice as a water substitute. Authorities are permitting Salvation Army vehicles free access to the disaster areas, and Army food and clothing depots are functioning in Gulfport, Biloxi, Long Beach, Bay St. Louis, Hattisburg, Pascagoula, and Pass Christian.
Seventy-two families in New Orleans were moved by Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center trucks. The Army is assisting with emergency housing in Mobile.
The Army has become initially involved for the expenditure of $500,000 on behalf of the hurricane victims. Financial support is being sought from the public in addition to food and bedding. Funds for the disaster may be sent to: The Salvation Army Hurricane Disaster Fund, 2827 Clark Ave., St. Louis, Missouri, 63103. Persons wishing to send bedding and clothing directly may ship to: The Salvation Army, 205 Bushman Avenue, Hattisburg, Mississippi, or The Salvation Army, 2001-24th Avenue, Gulfport, Mississippi. Last night one Salvation Army Center had run out of clothing, but persons were asked to return this morning, as supplies were being continuously replaced.
Commissioner Paul J. Carlson, Territorial Commander for the Central States, announced that all Salvation Army Centers would be available to receive donations of bedding and additional truckloads of material will be dispatched to Mississippi

SAIGON (AP) — Cookie and Smidgen are looking for Mary Jane in Vietnam.
The two are a male-female team of German shepherd dogs brought into the country by the U.S. Army on "temporary duty status" after 16 weeks of intensive training on Okinawa. They were drafted for a military effort to curb the shipment of marijuana back to the States by servicemen.
Cookie and Smidgen are the only two dogs who passed the course out of 30 candidates. For 16 weeks the dogs were trained in basic obedience, safety, retrieving, and scouting, taking on their complex sniffing missions starting with a marijuana-filled toy.
The purchase and use of marijuana, also called Mary Jane, by GIs have long been a problem in Vietnam, although the extent has often been the subject of rumor. The cannabis plant is so readily—and cheaply—available in Vietnam, it is not surprising that some GIs think of mailing some to their friends back home.

In typical demonstrations, Cookie and Smidgen sniff their way past assorted pieces of baggage or "packages" and individuals and sniff out planted marijuana shipments or personal "stashies" in a man's baggy fatigue pockets. For his find the dog is rewarded with an affectionate pat on the head and given his stuffed toy to chew on while he bones up for his next sniffing mission. The toy is to remind the dog of the smell of marijuana while he's not sniffing packages.
According to the rules, the trainer can show affection for his dog only when he finds a hidden package.
During one demonstration at a military police battalion headquarters Smidgen failed to detect one packet.
"The dogs are not 100 per cent effective. They occasionally make mistakes the same as people do," said Sgt. Enys Cooper, the senior instructor in the program.
The library of Thomas Jefferson formed the nucleus of the Library of Congress.

Fingerprinting as a means of identification was used by the Chinese as early as the 7th century, according to The World Almanac. The Chinese recognized that documents signed with a fingerprint provided an excellent safeguard against forgery, since no two people have the same prints. Today, fingerprints are extensively used throughout the world for crime detection. The FBI has about 175 million prints on file.

OBITUARIES

RAYMOND CHESTER BARD

EAST PRAIRIE -- Funeral services for Raymond Chester Bard, 66, will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at the Shelby Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Don Woodstock, pastor of First Christian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery at Charleston.

He died in a doctor's office Wednesday afternoon at Barry, Illinois.

He was born at East Prairie Jan. 18, 1904 and married Miss Erlene Russell of East Prairie, who preceded him in death March 7, 1930.

He had been employed for 17 years as a right-of-way foreman for Dunker Road Construction Co. of Hull, Ill., where he resided at the time of his death.

Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Minnie Gullion Bard Matthews of East Prairie; three sisters, Mrs. John Kemp of East Prairie; Mrs. William Lozer of Waterloo, Iowa and Mrs. Felix Stratton of Springfield, Mo.; and a brother, Alex Bard of Springfield.

JUANITA ROWE

CHARLESTON -- Mrs. Juanita Rowe, 82, died 12:30 a.m. Friday in the Host House at Charleston, after an extended illness.

She was born June 28, 1887, in Dexter. In June, 1909, she married Zeth Raymond Rowe, who survives.

Mrs. Rowe had lived in Charleston past 60 years and was a member of the United Methodist Church of Charleston.

Survivors other than her husband are two sons, Robert Rowe and John Paul Rowe, both of St. Louis; a daughter, Mrs. Ben Cowan, Jr. of Dexter; and 7 grandchildren.

The body is at the McKie Funeral Home in Charleston, where friends may call after 6 p.m. today.

Services will be held in the McKie Chapel 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Ben Russell, minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Dexter, officiating. Burial will follow in the IOOF Cemetery in Charleston.

leadership and assistance for a grain marketing co-op in Southeast Missouri.

LEADERSHIP -- Favor the limitation of all state elected office holders to set number of years or terms.

MEMBERSHIP -- That intensive membership programs are important and therefore all non-members must be informed of Farm Bureau's past, present, and future accomplishments and ideas.

NATIONAL AND STATE PUBLIC RELATIONS -- That Farm Bureau public relations should call public attention to the fact that articles in national news magazines have repeatedly, grossly and maliciously distorted farm interest, attacked government program, R.E.A. subsidies and the whole program.

RAILROADS -- That the railroads should have the right to discontinue runs whenever they have proven unprofitable.

SCHOOLS -- Opposition to sex education in public schools and to SIECUS. We believe that financing of an effective program of public education is the joint responsibility of local, state and federal government.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE -- The Secretary of Agriculture's first interest should be the welfare of farmers, even to the point of being biased.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICES OF THE UNITED STATES -- Favor at least a three-fourth majority vote by the Congress of the United States and that potential candidates business background and law practice experience should be of utmost importance in determining his qualifications, and his political background should be ignored. That the decision handed down by the Supreme Court Justices have a two-third majority approval and that the Supreme Court Justices time of term be limited and mandatory retirement at age of 70.

TAXES -- Oppose to any increases in real and personal property taxes in Missouri and ask that other taxes bear any increase necessary for additional revenue.

VOTER REGISTRATION -- We favor the registration of voters statewide.

WELFARE -- A study to explore the possibility of building homes for illegitimate children with education and care entirely out of such immoral environment. We are opposed to anti-poverty programs.

The newly elected officers for the coming year included: President, Hugh Rogers of Matthews; Vice-President, Dub Widner of Portageville; Secretary, Erwin Lloyd of Lilbourn; Treasurer, Arthur McMillin; Board member, Walter Landers, Jr. of Lilbourn; Hugh Landers of Gideon and Randy Porter of Matthews; President of the Township Board, Bobby Wrather.

TEMPUS FUGIT; MAKES NEW YEAR'S EVE PLANS NEW YORK (AP) -- A woman called Jules Podell's Copacabana for a reservation for New Year's Eve. "Which New Year's Eve?" the non-plussed reservation clerk asked.

Former Kennett Man Sentenced To Death

PARAGOULD, Ark. -- Circuit Judge Charles Light Wednesday sentenced a grimaced Clyde Ray Glover, 36, of Paragould and formerly of Kennett, to die in the electric chair December 15.

Following a brief hearing in the courtroom Glover was whisked off to Cummins State Prison by several deputies where he will remain in Death Row while his attorney, W. B. Howard of Jonesboro, completes work on an appeal of the conviction to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

On August 22, Judge Light received a petition from Glover requesting a new trial, however after taking the matter under advisement, he turned down the request yesterday. He did grant Glover the right to appeal his case to the State Supreme Court, provided he does so within 60 days.

An all-male jury deliberated one hour and 45 minutes on July 23 before finding Glover guilty of the first degree murder in the March 1 brutal slaying-burning of 20-year-old 14½ Judy Evans of Rector, Ark.

Route Four. The jury recommended the death penalty 6 to 1 by electrocution for Glover.

Oldest of the literary prophets was Amos, who lived about 760 B.C.

TV to Put Less Accent On Message

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A year ago, television producers, writers and stars were excited about messages and meaningful drama. During 1969-70, caution is the byword and the phrase used most often to describe the product is "pure entertainment."

The Establishment, wallowed vigorously last season by TV's bright, earnest young producers and performers, is likely to be treated tenderly. The memory of the Smothers Brothers cancellation by CBS is still painfully fresh in everybody's mind.

New faces, new situation comedies, new variety shows, cute children and winsome dogs will abound. Many shows will have a familiar look because there are only a dozen or so basic plots and not all of them work in series. Commercial television, in a play-safe year, has a tendency to hire specialists with proven track records in old shows to turn out new ones.

Veteran viewers are likely to recall "Route 66" when they see NBC's "Then Came Bronson." The new series stars one man on a motorcycle, instead of two in a sport car, but both were shot on location and involved in a new adventure in a different community each week.

Debbie Reynolds' comedy style is not at all like that of Lucille Ball, but if the premise and execution of "The Debbie Reynolds Show" is occasionally reminiscent of "I Love Lucy," it could be the influence of producer-creator, Jack Oppenheimer. He was prominent in the birth of the Ball-Arnaz series 18 years ago.

ABC's, CBS's and NBC's new medical shows will inevitably remind one of yesteryear's Kildare and Casey. Cute children have often helped a run-of-the-mill situation comedy into the winners' circle, and in a year when the genre is back in favor, they are present in wholesale quantities. One series, ABC's "The Brady Bunch," has six.

While the approaching season does not appear to contain much experimentation with radical, daring material, some fresh forms around will be offered.

NBC's "My World—And Welcome to It" is based on cartoons, writing and personality of the late James Thurber. It will combine live actors and realistic sets with animation for a first in adult situation comedy.

ABC will partially free itself from the tyranny of the clock in its "Love, American Style." It will drop three or four complete sketches of assorted lengths and with different casts into each weekly hour. The sketches will range from broad comedy to tender sentiment and have one element in common: love.

ABC's "Survivors" will try to transfer a literary form, the novel, to television. The series will be a complete story told in 26 weekly "chapters," a variation of the familiar daytime serial, which begins new story lines while concluding old ones.

ABC will have two 45-minute shows back to back—an off-beat variety show, "Music Scene," followed by an acting drama, "The New People."

Electronic Records Used By PCA

The Sikeston Production association for its fourth consecutive year has gone into electronic farm record systems. Monday through Wednesday, PCA area representatives attended a three-day advance training in processing farm records, at the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank in St. Louis.

Computer systems are used by many farmers associated with PCA, for tax management on their farm operations.

Area representatives present at the sessions were Kenneth Williams, Sikeston; Bill Chambers, Charleston; Gene Lancaster, Portageville; Tom Love, Dexter; and George Miller, Poplar Bluff.

Burfordsville Truck Driver Loses Life

William Aufdenberg, 55, Burfordsville, died of injuries sustained in an automobile accident at 8 a.m. today. The state patrol reported he was driving west on highway 34, about four miles west of Jackson.

He had stopped his 1957 Ford pick-up truck, and appeared to be backing into a private drive.

The truck rolled down the hill, throwing him out and ran over him.

Aufdenberg was admitted to Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau. He died there at 9 a.m.

WHISTLES 'ARCHAIC'

LONDON (AP) — Police in Devon and Cornwall counties are handing in their whistles — 2,000 of them. A spokesman said whistles are "an archaic means of calling for help" rarely used by men on the beat who now carry two-way radios.

Conservative Students Convene

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative-oriented organization, opens its national convention today with the stated purpose of formulating a legal attack on the revolutionary tactics of the new left.

But, says David Keene, national vice chairman of YAF, there are factions within the 51,000-member organization which disagree on how best to fight the leftist student movement, and even a small group which favors a coalition with those who have disrupted routine on many college campuses. About 1,000 delegates representing some 513 YAF chapters are expected for the convention.

Keene, a law student at the University of Wisconsin, said "there will be a lot of noise, a lot of talk, I expect, but the dissidents don't have much strength numerically."

He said there are three principal factions within the organization—"the libertarians, the traditionalists and the middle ground."

"The libertarian is interested principally in individual and free choice to the extent that his is all-important," Keene said. "The traditionalist tends to exalt tradition and order, civilization moving in an orderly manner." The 24-year-old Keene said he considers himself in the middle ground group and has support from both other factions in his bid to become national chairman of YAF.

Keene said a small group headed by Karl Hess IV, son of a former speechwriter for Sen. Barry Goldwater, supports a coalition with the student leftists.

"He thinks we're all a bunch of fascists," Keene said.

Keene and Michael Thompson, national secretary of YAF and a graduate student at the University of Missouri, said they prefer action in the courts against both the student groups which disrupt campus life and the college administrators who permit the disruption.

Is YAF going to become more militant in campus

Jaycee Wives Elect Georgia Hix

MALDEN — The Malden Jaycee Wives club was re-chartered and re-activated during a called meeting of the club at the Jaycee Hut, and new officers were installed.

Mrs. Georgia Hix was installed as president of the club, and Mrs. Nadine Bennett took the oath of office as treasurer. Dr. Larry Webster, president of the Malden Junior Chamber of Commerce, served as installing officer for the ceremonies.

Membership in the Jaycee Wives Club requires that members must be the wives of the parent Jaycee organization members.

Softball began as an indoor sport in the late 1800s.

Bernie Schools Enrollment Up

BERNIE--The Bernie schools opened Monday with an enrollment increase for the first time in several years.

High school has an increase of four students from last year, with 248 students enrolled. Class roll calls show 71 freshmen; 69 sophomores; 56 juniors; and 52 seniors.

Elementary school shows an increase of 30, with a total of 599 enrolled. The enrollment by grades is: 1st grade, 72; 2nd grade, 65; 3rd grade, 69; 4th grade, 58; 5th grade, 64; 6th grade, 74; 7th grade, 71; 8th grade, 57; Sp. education, 27; Kindergarten, 42.

School opened without a regular art teacher, however two qualified substitute teachers have been employed. The substitute teachers are: Mrs. Judy Perkins, who will teach high school art and some elementary art; and Mrs. Peggy Hockman of Malden will teach elementary art.

There were 580 meals served in the cafeteria the first day of school.

New Post Office For Marston

MARSTON--Postmaster General Winton M. Blount, announced that a contract has been awarded to build a new post office at Marston.

The building will be owned by the Richardson Gin, Inc., Main St., Marston, Mo. who will lease it to the Post Office Department for 5 years. It will be located at the South side of Main Street, approximately 200 yards West of Junction Main & Lewis Streets. Preliminary estimates indicate that the initial investments in the project will total approximately $18,000.

The one story building will be air conditioned and will offer more working room than the present building.

The new type is expected to be completed in about 90 days after the plans are approved.

Area Students At Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark. - A total of 197 students attended the fourth of six pre-registration sessions at Arkansas State University August 21. All freshmen will report for an orientation and registration period September 8-10.

Conducted by the Dean of Students Office, these sessions include tests and are designed to acquaint new students with the University and its campus. Other pre-enrollment periods are scheduled September 2 and September 6.

Attending from the Gideon area and their major fields of study were:

GIDEON - Paul Wayne White, art and James Lonnie Johnson, business administration.

CLARKTON - Darrell Kenton Hawkins, pre-law; William D. Persfull, accounting and Jim Bob Mullen, engineering.

HOLCOMB - Nancy Ann Rollins, English.

LOOKING FOR SOLUTION TO WATER SHORTAGE?

If your area suffers from recurring water shortages that lead to local restrictions on the use of water, the answer to your problem may lie on your own property.

Water wells, or private water systems as they are more properly called, are being installed by thousands of families not only to beat local restrictions but also to save money on large-scale uses of water such as lawn sprinklers, car-washing, housing down the patio, and filling the backyard swimming or splash pool.

The Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau estimates that at least 50,000 wells will be installed this year for supplementary water by people who already are served by a municipal system.

The private water system is not as picturesque as the old well with its traditional oaken bucket, but it's a great deal more efficient. It consists of a well that's only a few inches in diameter, an electrically powered pump to bring the water to the surface, a tank for water storage, and controls for turning the pump on and off automatically.

Since there's "free" water underground on almost everyone's property, it may pay you to investigate the possibility of having your own water system. STAMPS GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) - A student at Mesa College displayed the envelope of a letter he had received. Two trading stamps were stuck to the upper right hand corner where U.S. postage usually is placed and these had been duly cancelled at the post office.

Pets Injured By Hurricane

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) - The crack of a rifle sounds repeatedly along the hurricane ravaged Gulf coast as man offers the mercy of death to injured and starving animals.

Miss Emily Gloeckler, president of the Florida Association of Humane Societies, said Hurricane Camille left untold thousands of dogs, cats and other pets hurt and homeless along the coastal areas of Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida.

Navy Seabees and Army National Guardsmen cooperating with the Humane Societies are destroying the animals, she said.

"It's so sad," Miss Gloeckler said, "but there is nothing else to do. We have been criticized for killing these animals, but many of them were too badly injured to save and we just can't find the space or food we need to care for the others."

More than one big, husky Seabee or soldier fought back tears as he placed the muzzle of his rifle between the trusting eyes of an injured dog and pulled the trigger, she said.

Donations coming from across the country are being used to care for some animals in areas that were not so badly damaged and to rebuild the Gulfport Animal Shelter, which was destroyed by the storm.

"Money is the thing we need most right now," Miss Gloeckler said. Some people are sending gifts of dog food, but we have no way to handle it. Food supplies for humans come first."

She said representatives from the American Humane Association in Denver, the Humane Societies of the United States in Washington, D.C., and the Humane Society of Pensacola, Fla., are in the Gulfport area, searching the rubble for injured animals and looking for their owners.

Lack of Action To Ease Campus Ferment Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some Republican congressmen who toured the nation's colleges last spring say the administration has done little to ease the basic sources of campus ferment.

"The critical urgency of the problem cannot be overstated," the 22 GOP congressmen reported to President Nixon June 17.

And now, Rep. William A. Steiger says: "I think it's fair to say most of the people who took that tour would tend to say things would still be difficult this year."

The Wisconsin congressman contradicted the assessment of Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, who was quoted last week as saying chances for a quiet year on campuses are very promising.

What We Think About It

By Lt. Colonel Norman E. May of Warwick, Bermuda

Empires - Colonialism - Dictatorship. The old order crangeth and the beneficent progressive and, in many cases, altruistic "Empires" of prewar II days, have been disbanded and liquidated to "free" their peoples to internal democratic rule. In practice, in all of the freed, newly formed developing countries I can think of, the peoples have been freed to become slaves of a bureaucratic military junta or a dictatorship controlled by their own educated and wealthy upper classes.

We confuse and mislead ourselves by the words we use and the way words are used. I.e. the "Democratic" Peoples Republic of North Korea denounces the "Imperialistic" U. S. A.

The "Democratic" Republic of Poland supports and condones Russia's invasion and subjugation of Czechoslovakia. The Students for a Democratic Society are the leading anarchistic activists who are wrecking Universities, the red press and the ENVIRONMENTAL SANITATION As people live closer together, they strain the eating, housing, water, recreational, and waste-disposal facilities of their communities more and more. The chances of epidemic disease are vastly increased. Thus a need for increased community health controls is created--a need that can only be met by a staff of trained and disciplined experts, these are the Sanitarians.

A public health sanitarian is a person who, because of his education, and experience in the biological and sanitary sciences, is qualified to take part in promoting and protecting the public health. He applies his technical knowledge to solve environmental health problems. He develops methods and carries out procedures for the control of the factors of man's environment that affect his health, safety, and well-being. These factors are air, water, waste, food, drink, chemicals, cosmetics, and shelter; disease-producing germs, birds, rodents, insects, and other vermin; and other external and internal physical conditions of man's life. The sanitarian screens, tests, devices, and evaluates methods, materials and equipment to accomplish his objectives.

Sanitarians survey streams, reservoirs, ponds, and other bodies of water to guard against pollution. They inspect restaurants and food manufacturing and processing plants to ensure that standards of sanitation are being met. They work closely with dairy farmers and dairy plants to keep milk and other dairy products safe for public consumption.

In addition, sewage and waste-disposal facilities must be inspected to make certain that they do not become breeding places for rodents and insects. Sanitarians are responsible for ensuring safe and sanitary conditions in hotels, motels, rooming and boarding houses, trailer parks, and swimming pools. They also run regular tests of the air to determine the amounts of radiation, carbon monoxide, and other dangerous chemicals or particles it contains.

As a sanitarian advances in his profession, his responsibilities increase. He will be expected to develop plans to improve the sanitary conditions in such establishments as hotels, hospitals, restaurants, and recreational facilities that are a part of his community. He may supervise other sanitarians and work with other people in his community to accomplish his objectives.

Diverse Roles Forecast for Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON (AP) -

Atomic energy may play such diverse roles in the future as power for planetary grand tour and an artificial heart, Congress has been told.

The idea of implanting a tiny nuclear engine in the body to power an artificial heart is hypothetical, but worth looking into since heart disease kills some 750,000 Americans a year, says the director of the Atomic Energy Commission's isotopes development section.

E. Eugene Fowler estimates such heart research would take about four years and $5.5 million.

The commission's director of space nuclear systems, Milton Klein, in arguing for funding of the nuclear research on project Nerva, said atomic engines will be a must for deep space flight.

The testimony of both men before House appropriations subcommittees in May was released Tuesday.

The urgency of finding a practical power supply for an artificial heart, said Fowler, was demonstrated last year in Dr. Denton Cooley's effort to keep a patient alive in Houston, Tex.

The artificial heart Cooley used needed a power supply system the size of an office desk. Possibly, Fowler said, a nuclear engine weighing a few pounds could substitute, being implanted in the body.

As for space travel, Klein said, "We are moving into needs for very long life systems." A trip to Jupiter takes two years. A grand tour in the late 1970's when all the planets are in a favorable alignment would take seven to eleven years.

Klein said a desk-size Nerva atomic engine would produce as much power as Hoover Dam. Nerva would speed travel and make rescue of the vehicles possible. In comparison, the total weight of a Saturn booster is 6 million pounds, 5 million of which is chemical propellant.

As for space versus domestic priorities, Klein said, "The real long-term solutions to the problems of poverty, which are real ... is to increase our ability to produce and do things better."

Mary Ellen Setzler, of North Little Rock, has been employed as a kindergarten teacher, he said.

Eye on '70 Elections, Nixon Patches Political Fences

By BRUCE BLOSSAT NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) President Nixon has begun putting the new gloss of updated management techniques on his political operations. But much valuable time has been lost and he may need immense good fortune to come out well in the 1970 elections.

No one can visit Republican National Committee headquarters today without encountering a host of eager new faces, freshly minted organizational charts, a flush of energy and high morale.

Already well-established in the White House itself, of course, is former South Carolina state chairman Harry Dent, with his paneled office in the East Wing symbolizing a belated bow to the political realities of the presidency.

Memoranda dealing with patronage matters and the thousand and one political problems that concern governors, mayors, state chairmen and others are arching across the short trajectory from White House to nearby committee offices and back again.

On a recent weekend at Airlie House in Warrenton, Va., committee officials were joined by representatives of the senatorial and congressional campaign committees to burnish the new party mechanisms and get ready for the day when all three groups would gather under one new roof near Capitol Hill.

Yet the nearly euphoric state which seems to be accompanying these changes cannot obscure the damage done in the first several months after Nixon was elected.

All aside from the endless irritation caused in many states by the President's unorthodox and erratic job-filling procedures, the patronage operation was largely wasted as a lever for providing potential early advantage to 1976 candidates for Congress and some key states offices.

Use of some available federal jobs to give candidates showcase identity can often avoid later bruising primary battles, since they may gain a commanding lead for nomination if they are otherwise suitable choices.

More than a few well-placed Republicans are tuning over what they consider the Nixon administration's senseless throw-away of this opportunity.

The President himself evidently did not wake up fully to this matter until he became angered at the special-election loss this spring of a vacated Republican U.S. House seat in Montana.
